Cape Kennedy Tragedy Told

No Plans Yet For Future Of Program

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The catastrophe that killed three astronauts inside a flaming Apollo spaceship cast a giant shadow on the U.S. man-to-the-moon project, stalling the $23-billion program for perhaps several months.

Top project officials would not predict how long the delay might be. They said only that the maiden manned voyage of the three-man spaceship had been postponed indefinitely.

Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee were scheduled for a flight of up to two weeks starting Feb. 21. But death came suddenly on a Cape Kennedy, Fla., launch pad Friday night when a flash fire swept through the cabin.

"I am not prepared to discuss our plans for the flight events to come," said Maj. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program director, at a Cape Kennedy news conference.

No doubt it will be several months before a spaceship can be readied for the Apollo 1 mission. An investigating board must first complete its report, and spaceships must be redesigned, if necessary. Officials then must start over with weeks of vehicle tests and astronaut training.

Uppermost in all minds Saturday was: How did it happen and how can such a grim accident be avoided?

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration named a seven-man investigating board to probe the accident. Also, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., chairman of the Senate Space Committee, said a Senate inquiry would follow the NASA probe.

Phillips said the exact cause of the blaze had not been determined. However, he noted the spaceship was filled with pure oxygen—used on all American spaceflights—which has flash fire potential when sparked.

Should NASA decide to discard the fatal vehicle, described officially as "heavily damaged," it has other spaceships. However, any redesign would take weeks, even months, to work out and test.

Also, NASA could choose to scrub the Apollo 1 mission completely and move directly onto Apollo 2, a more complex rendezvous flight. Planning before the accident called for three manned Apollo missions in earth orbit, followed by a fourth with the capability of landing men on the moon.

It was known that NASA had been hoping for a lunar landing sometime in 1968, more than a year ahead of the nation's goal of placing men on the moon by 1970. But, officials said all along any 1969 trip depended on a "success schedule."

The tragedy placed such an optimistic schedule in jeopardy.

JOHNSON SEEKS STEP-UP IN POLLUTION FIGHT
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will send a special message to Congress Monday calling for a stepped up attack on pollution of the air and streams.

The White House press office, announcing this Saturday, described the message as dealing with "preservation of our natural heritage."

Grissom, White, Chaffee: Dedicated To Single Aim

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Apollo 1 astronauts constantly assessed each other, their jobs, their spacecraft — and the danger that was always with them. In separate, exclusive interviews a few days ago, they talked of these things.

MANNED SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON, TEX. (AP) — Three valiant men: Gus Grissom, Ed White, Roger Chaffee. Yearning for the moon, they died side by side in a blazing instant in their earthbound spaceship.

They were obsessed by the same desire that keeps any pilot aching to streak across the skies. Only theirs was an even stronger yearning, to tread the moon and trek among the stars.

Chaffee once said: "You'll be flying along some nights with a full moon. You're up at 45,000 feet. Up there you can see it like you can't see it down here."

"It's just the big, bright, clear moon. You look up there and just say to yourself, 'I've got to get up there. I've just got to get one of those flights.'"

Chaffee was a young man, only 31. His deep black hair had begun to gray. The slight man beamed with confidence. Asked if he felt secure under the wings of two veteran spacemen, the rookie declared frankly: "Oh, yes! But I don't think it's because they've flown and I haven't. Hell, I'd feel secure taking it up all by myself because we've trained enough for every job. You feel secure because you know what you're doing."

Asked to give a commander's assessment of White and Chaffee, command pilot Grissom, a 40-year-old Air Force lieutenant colonel, said shortly before his death: "Ed's a real hard driver. I don't care what kind of job you give Ed, he's going to get it done; he's going to get it finished."

"He's not a guy that quits just like on his EVA (space walk). By God, that hatch that wasn't working right just didn't bother him a bit. He goes ahead and gets the job done."

"And Roger... of course Roger hasn't had an experience (space) flying and we don't know what he'll be like. I'm sure he'll be okay. Roger is one of the smartest boys I've ever run into."

"He's just a damn good engineer; there's no other way to explain it. When he starts talking to engineers about their systems, he can just tear those damn guys apart. I've never seen one like him. He's really a great boy."

White, also a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, echoed high confidence in Chaffee and said flatly of Grissom: "He's good."

"You know, it's interesting how you can really get to know people and understand just exactly how they think and it is quite rewarding when you find out you both think quite a lot alike," White said. "This happens to be the case here."

They all felt they had a good spaceship, one that could take them on a complete, 14-day flight.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Chaffee summed up their feelings: "I think we've got an excellent spaceship."

A split second later, fire "that originated from inside the ca-

Probe Possible Cause Of Apollo 1 Disaster

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Investigators will probe the charred wreckage of the Apollo 1 moonship on Sunday and study findings of autopsies on the three dead astronauts to learn what sparked America's first spaceship tragedy and set the man-to-the-moon program months behind.

A seven-man board of inquiry, headed by Dr. Floyd Thompson, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley, Va. Research Center, arrived at Cape Kennedy on Saturday to begin organizing an intensive search for facts.

Saturday, the Apollo program director grimly told of the accident and how an Apollo 1 astronaut cried, "Fire in the spacecraft!" an instant before the moonship was engulfed in a sudden fatal flash of flame.

Maj. Gen. Samuel Phillips — who as program director headed a preliminary investigating team — said astronauts Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee were waiting to pick up the count in a rehearsal for their planned Feb. 21 launch date.

"The test started in the early morning, and the crew went inside at 1 p.m.," he said. "The hatch was closed at 2:50 p.m."

"The spacecraft was closed and was pressurized with oxygen. At 6:31 p.m., observers in the pad area and on the TV bin" penetrated to the outside of the spacecraft and surrounded the moonship in an instant — "split seconds," Phillips said.

Emergency crews had the Apollo 1 doors opened in five minutes, he said, but were confronted with intense heat and very dense smoke. Twenty-seven rescue workers were killed by smoke inhalation, dropping like dominoes as each rushed to help.

Their efforts were in vain. Grissom, White and Chaffee apparently died instantly. The only escape available to them was to open the hatch doors from inside the spacecraft, the program director said, and scramble to safety.

The spacecraft doors "can be opened very quickly with a crank-type tool," he said. Apparently, they did not live long enough to try.

Set Rites For Apollo Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON, TEX. (AP) — The three astronauts who were killed Friday in a Cape Kennedy, Fla., flash fire in their Apollo spacecraft will be buried at Arlington National Cemetery and West Point.

The burials will follow memorial services Sunday and Monday at churches near Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center, the training base for astronauts.

Space Center officials said Saturday the bodies of Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee will be flown by military escort sometime Monday from Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., to Washington, D.C. and West Point.

Memorial services for Chaffee will be held at 5 p.m. CST Sunday at the Webster Presbyterian Church. Burial will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Arlington Cemetery.

Two memorial services will be held Monday at the Seabrook Methodist Church, at 9 a.m. for Grissom and at 11 a.m. for White. Grissom will be buried at 9 a.m. Tuesday at Arlington. White's burial will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the West Point Cemetery at Highland Falls, N.Y.

Honorary pallbearers for Chaffee will be members of the third group of astronauts picked in 1963. He was a member of that group.

Pallbearers for Grissom, one of the original seven Mercury astronauts, will be five of the seven, Donald K. Slayton, Navy Cmdr. M. Scott Carpenter, Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard Jr., Air Force Col. L. Gordon Coop-

Attribute 68 Deaths To Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The snowstorm which dumped most of its load on the Midwest — 23 inches at Chicago, 28 at Kalamazoo — moved into northern New England and eastern Canada on Saturday showing reduced intensity.

Chicago and other cities paralyzed by drifts of five to 15 feet succeeded in reopening their traffic arteries by dint of round-the-clock work by thousands of diggers, but most neighborhoods still were snowbound.

Sixty-eight deaths were attributed to the record storm in five states — 42 in Illinois, 17 in Michigan, 5 in Wisconsin, 3 in Indiana and 1 in Ohio.

Gov. George W. Romney of Michigan appealed for organized shoveling by residents in many Michigan communities with more than two feet of snow cover. "Otherwise," he said, "emergency situations will overwhelm us and many will not only suffer, but some will die."

Snow-buried streets, many of them blocked by abandoned vehicles, disrupted distribution of food to neighborhood stores. Thousands of emergency missions were flown by helicopters or carried out by drift-bucking tractor-pulls and trucks to supply isolated communities or stranded groups of motorists.

Many of the marooned were liberated as main roads were hacked open again. One fire station beside the snow-choked Calumet Expressway in Chicago (Turn To Page Eleven)

$200,000 FIRE HITS CHAMPAIGN STORE

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP) — A fire and two explosions virtually destroyed the Bailey and Hines sporting goods store in the University of Illinois campus district Saturday. Firemen estimated damage at $200,000.

The fire started shortly after 5 p.m. with the store closed. The subsequent explosions blew out the front wall of the store and two firemen and a policeman were shaken up.

Illinois Slowly Overcomes Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago and dozens of communities in northern Illinois, snowbound for two days by the worst storm in memory, were gradually returning to normal life Saturday.

Hundreds of workers in towns, cities and on the county level were digging vehicles out of snowdrifts and clearing thoroughfares of stalled cars and trucks and snow.

The Chicago area got a record 23 inches of snow. The storm hit the area around 6 a.m. Thursday and came to an end Friday. Most of the time, the snow was powered by strong winds with gusts of 60 and 70 m.p.h.

There were more than a score of deaths attributed to the snowstorm.

Hundreds of schools closed down; thousands of workers remained at home, unable to get to their places of work.

The wind piled snowdrifts up to 20 feet in parts of northern Illinois. In the Chicago area, (Turn To Page Eleven)

Powell Plans To Pay Part Of Judgement

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell said Saturday he would make a partial payment of the $164,000 court judgment he owes and warned congressmen determining his right to be seated to be prepared for a counterattack.

Meeting newsmen for the first time since the House refused to seat him until it looks at his qualifications, Powell said he would pay $33,000 next Tuesday to Esther James, 70, the Harlem widow who won a slander judgment against him.

That was the size of the original award in 1963 but Powell's refusal to pay has caused it to balloon through penalties and interest. Powell has appeals pending on the added costs and said nothing would be done about paying them until all litigation has ended.

In New York, Mrs. James' attorney, Raymond Rubin, said Powell's offer was "only a drop in the bucket." He said it would be applied as credit against the full sum, which he now sets at $170,000.

Mrs. James sued Powell for calling her a "bag woman" or graft collector for the police. Today Powell referred to her as "that delightful widow."

Any effort to pay off the judgment would probably help Powell's case before the House committee investigating him, but the Harlem Democrat promptly showed he is not going to make it easy for his colleagues to recommend he be seated.

Conviction on all the charges could mean for the one-time Senate page a maximum of 48 years in prison and $47,000 in fines.

The jury received the case at noon but took time out for lunch and dinner. At one time, at 9:25 p.m., they were called back to the courtroom and supplemented instructions from Judge Oliver Gasch about an item of evidence they had requested.

The jury's duty is to decide whether Baker, in his complex financial dealings, evaded income taxes, committed theft and conspired to defraud the government, as the government has charged.

China, Russia Exchange Charges

Pro-Maoists Back Rally vs. Russia

TOKYO (AP) — Army troops loyal to Mao Tse-tung backed thousands of demonstrators outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking on Saturday to protest what Red China claims were unprovoked attacks on Chinese students in Moscow.

Japanese correspondents reported.

The dispatches from Peking said the Chinese troops joined the demonstrators after attending a rally in the Workers Stadium to pledge full support for Mao's purge of followers of President Liu Shao-chi.

A broadcast dispatch of the official Red China News Agency said Red Guards, workers and students marched around the Soviet Embassy in chilling weather shouting, "Down with Brezhnev! Down with Kossygin!"

Leonid I. Brezhnev is the chief of the Soviet Communist party and Alexei N. Kossygin is premier. The Chinese accuse them of following in the footsteps of former Premier Nikita Khrushchev in revising the original tenets of Marx and Lenin and taking a capitalist road.

In Moscow, the Chinese Embassy called an unprecedented news conference to release a message from Premier Chou En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi. It accused the Soviets of "bloody repression" of students trying to place a wreath

(Turn To Page Eleven)

MOSCOW (AP) — Red China and the Soviet Union exchanged bitter charges in unprecedented rival news conferences here Saturday over a scuffle in Red Square between Russians and Chinese students.

The Chinese produced a message from Premier Chou En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi accusing the Russians of "bloody repression" in preventing 69 Chinese students from placing a wreath on the grave of Joseph V. Stalin last Wednesday.

In their news conference the Russians charged the incident in Red Square was a provocation planned in advance by an official of the Chinese Embassy. A Foreign Ministry spokesman called it "unprecedented in Soviet-Chinese relations."

U.S. correspondents were barred from both the Chinese and Soviet news conferences. Soviet reporters were not invited to the Chinese Embassy news conference but newsmen from other Communist nations attended.

The governments of the two great Communist powers have exchanged a series of recriminations and protests over the Red Square incident, pointing up the extent of the deterioration in their relations.

The Chinese contend that Soviet police beat up the students. The Russians say the Chinese made a nuisance of themselves and that Soviet citizens linked arms and herded the Chinese back to their bus. The incident occurred near Lenin's tomb. Visitors to Stalin's grave now must pass through Lenin's tomb.

Why Oxygen Used

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The decision to use a pure oxygen system inside a spacecraft was made long before hardware for the Apollo program was constructed.

Astronauts breathed pure oxygen in all Mercury and Gemini spacecraft.

Although oxygen aids burning, the director of the Apollo program, Maj. Gen. Samuel Phillips, said Saturday the fire in Apollo 1 was the first ever to break out in a U.S. space ship.

The alternative to using a pure oxygen system is having astronauts breathe a mixture of gases, such as an oxygen-nitrogen combination similar to the environment on earth. Russian spaceships are believed to have used such a mixture.

Fire does not burn as rapidly in an oxygen-nitrogen system, but it has disadvantages. By using pure oxygen in its spaceships, the space agency saves space and weight. With one large tank, it can not only supply oxygen to the astronauts but can use the same oxygen tank for other purposes.

If a combination oxygen-nitrogen system were to be used for breathing, two containers would be needed, one containing the gas mixture and one containing pure oxygen to operate the fuel cells, adding to weight and space problems.

If officials decide to continue with Apollo 1, the former backup astronauts for the Apollo 1 flight — will now become the prime pilots.

They are Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., who like Grissom was one of the seven original astronauts; R. Walter Cunningham, a civilian, and Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele. Neither Eisele nor Cunningham has flown in space.

Tass added that the Soviet government expected the West German government to take the necessary steps to cut short "the activity of neo-Nazi and militarist forces" it said are "dangerous for the cause of peace."

Tass said that apart from the Western powers the Soviet government call was addressed to peoples and parliaments everywhere to ensure that neo-Nazi forces in West Germany could never threaten world peace.

The statement added: "Who can guarantee in these conditions that some new Hitler will not appear in the Federal (West) German Republic, and armed with nuclear weapons at that?"

Diplomatic sources in London, where a Moscow radio broadcast carried the Soviet charges, said it apparently heralded a major Soviet diplomatic move on German affairs.

The sources speculated that Moscow may be interested in dampening the explosive situation in the Far East and noted that since World War II, Soviet policy has often been to douse Far Eastern crises by diverting attention to Berlin or the German question generally.

The statement went on to charge the West German government spending on rocket and atomic research runs counter to the postwar Potsdam agreement and demands resolute measures to prevent any militarist resurgence.

Postal Patrons 'Bill Of Rights' Starts Pronto!

The largest business operation in the world will start treating customers much the same as any other business organization immediately, according to a directive issued by Lawrence F. O'Brien, postmaster general. Jacksonville Postmaster Philip Day, Saturday called attention of Jacksonville mailers to the new "Postal Customers Bill of Rights" designed to meet President Johnson's government-wide goal of improving the quality of federal services to the public.

Posters will be displayed in the post office lobby and service counters containing ten points which specify the kind of treatment customers have a right to expect. Aimed primarily at post office window services, instructions from the Postmaster General call for careful observance of all points in the bill of rights. The instructions also provide directions for most efficient management of window services.

Ten-Point Bill

The posters list ten points customers should be entitled to:

- 1—A neat, clean counter on which to transact business.
- 2—Service by a well-groomed, neat window employee.
- 3—A friendly greeting that expresses a desire to assist.
- 4—Knowledgeable, well-informed, interested window personnel to help with postal needs.

- 5—Prompt, alert and efficient service.
- 6—Competent and correct information on inquiries.

- 7—An attitude that reflects helpfulness, patience and congeniality.
- 8—The courtesy and tact that would be expected from a friend.

- 9—Polite referral to another window or individual, when necessary, to give the appropriate service.
- 10—A feeling, upon leaving, that the post office is glad to serve and help at all times.

Instructions for fulfilling "The Postal Customers Bill of Rights" are being distributed to all window personnel by Postmaster Day.

The Postmaster explained that demands on window personnel, who must deal with a wide variety of information, forms and varying services, are usually very heavy and postal customers can assist them in meeting the new service goals by being as brief and business-like as possible.

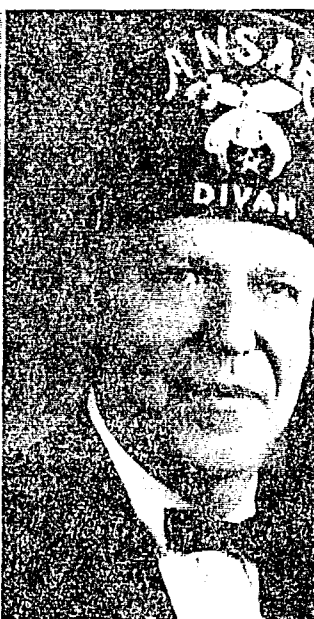

The new service is supposed to start immediately. Customers who feel their "rights" have been violated are invited to telephone or write a letter (with proper postage) to Postmaster Philip Day, Jacksonville Post Office, Jacksonville, Illinois, 62650.

Medical Advances Problem For Doctors

By ROB WOOD
DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The practice of medicine in the United States has changed drastically in recent years. In almost every hamlet or city a great need expressed by community leaders is "for more doctors."

Physicians say it is almost impossible to keep stride with the gains made in medical research. Doctors are slipping behind because of a heavy patient load and fewer hours in which to study the hundreds of journals that carry the latest discoveries in medicine.

In an effort to solve this problem, the Duke University Medical Center established one of the nation's first departments of community health sciences. Under the direction of Dr. Harvey Estes, it is attempting to persuade physicians to take a new approach to community medical needs.

The department will work with physicians to ease the work load and to provide time for refresher courses; assist medical schools in preparing doctors; develop technicians and paramedics to take some of the routine work now done by physicians; and will seek ways to provide instant medical attention for all.

Estes, in an interview, said there were too few doctors to meet the medical needs in cities and no doctors at all in many rural communities. Fifteen years ago, he said, there were 110 physicians per 100,000 population. Today the ratio has dipped to 97 to 100,000.

The first steps taken by the new Department of Community Health Science include a medical-school program aimed at training a new kind of family physician and a drive to bring doctors into a group-type system.

As envisioned by Dr. Estes, the medical practice of the future will include groups of at least 10 doctors working in the same building, pooling their talents.

For example, Estes said, the unit will include two family physicians, two internists, a gynecologist, an obstetrician, a pediatrician, a psychiatrist, and possibly two surgeons.

Estes wants the doctors to provide a walk-in, 24-hour-a-day clinic "where an individual can receive immediate treatment."

The patient's first visit would be with the family physician. The doctor either would treat the illness or injury or refer the individual to one of the specialists in the group.

WEEKEND GUESTS AT KOONTZ HOME IN PATTERSON

PATTERSON — Wayne Koontz of Oakwood, Illinois and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Koontz of Golden, were recent visitors with Mrs. Ralph Koontz and family and with Mr. Koontz who is a patient at Holy Cross hospital in Jacksonville. Weekend visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Koontz of Nashville, Tenn. and Miss Sherry Koontz of Peoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Crabtree are parents of a son, Christopher Carroll, born Jan. 17 at Schmitt Memorial hospital in Beardstown, weighing 6 pounds, 6 oz. Mrs. Crabtree is the former Peggy Ashcraft of Beardstown. Mr. and Mrs. Cam Crabtree are paternal grandparents.

Mike Dawdy, student at Sams Technical School in Indianapolis, Indiana, spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Dawdy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shankel and daughter Jan of Granite City, spent Friday night and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jenkerson and also visited with Mrs. Crystal Houghton in Jacksonville. Mr. Shankel left Monday for Chili, S. America, on an assignment for his employer. He expects to be gone three weeks.

By working as a unit, the physicians could handle more patients, provide more complete service, have more time to keep abreast of advances, and eventually develop a close patient-doctor relationship.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Owdom and sons, Mike and Mark of Jacksonville spent Saturday with the former's mother, Mrs. Nona Owdom.

Mr. and Mrs. John Todd of Roodhouse visited Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bain. Sunday dinner guests in the Bain home were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dunnagan and son of Jacksonville and afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Russell and family of Jerseyville.

"Hy-X" ONLY HENRY FIELD HAS IT!
Extraordinary New Tomato
GREAT FLAVOR! EASY TO GROW!

Less Foliage...More Tomatoes!

Our customers have written us hundreds of enthusiastic letters about HY-X. HY-X plants don't get big or gawky, but grow so compact and sturdy you needn't bother to stake them. Very prolific, too; HY-X starts early, bears abundantly 'til frost. The fruit is deep scarlet, globe-shaped, full of firm yet tender "meat," not just a lot of water and seeds. HY-X won't sun scald or crack. And it grows well 'most anywhere, even in semi-arid regions too dry for ordinary tomatoes. We want you to be a HY-X fan too, so right now we're making a most generous offer... more than 100 seeds for only 10¢! That barely covers our postage and handling costs, so don't pass this up—get yours now!

WE'LL MAIL YOU A BIG PACKET (over 100 seeds) FOR ONLY 10¢ PPD.

A Tomato So Good It Gets "Fan Mail!"

BIRTHDAY PARADE

JUDY GRISHAM writes "I was 2 years old on Jan. 24, until Jan. 1 when my Dad was transferred to Sherman, Texas. My mother and father are Berneda and Bill Grisham. I miss my friends from Jacksonville and would like for them to write me at Newlin Trailer and Mrs. Wm. Grisham, Ar-Park, Lot 36, Sherman, Texas."

CAROL SUE WILSON was 9 years old Jan. 27. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilson, Springfield. Her sisters are Cheryl and Lynda and she has a brother John. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Twines, Palmyra; and Maggie Wilson, Jacksonville.

PEGGY JO STOCKER celebrated her first birthday Jan. 13. She has one brother, Mike, aged 3. She lives in Chapin, and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Stocker. Grandparents are Mrs. Clyde A. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stocker of Jacksonville.

BYRON JASPER BAPTIST is 3 years old today, Jan. 29; and his sister ZETTA FLOWER BAPTIST will be 6 years old next week, Feb. 5. They are two of the 8 children of Helen and Lee Baptist, RR 1. Byron likes second grade with Mrs. Busche at North Jacksonville.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

JOIN THE PARADE

Two weeks or more before your birthday send your name, birthdate, address and parents' names to the Junior Editor, Jacksonville Journal - Courier, Jacksonville, Ill. (The information will be scheduled for the Sunday nearest your birthday.) Photos may be sent if desired, and these can be called for as soon as they have appeared in the paper.

Material on this page may not be published elsewhere without the permission of the authors.

Contributors to the Junior Journal - Courier page are Mrs. Otto Dorr, Emma Mae Leonard, Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr., Mary Pence Claywell, Joseph A. Smith, John Rankin and Christine Hembrugh.

ERIC PAUL ANDREWS writes (with help) "I was 2 years old Jan. 26. I live at Chapin. My mother and father are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Andrews. I have a brother Michael Allan aged 3, and a sister Carla Jean aged 8. My grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Allan Andrews, Winchester; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hester, Glasgow."

What Is High School?

By Christine Hembrugh

Last week I told you I planned to ask some other teens what they thought high school REALLY is and give you their answers.

If you have some different answers—or want to add your vote for some of these—just write:

Teen Scene, Junior Editor
Jacksonville Journal - Courier
Jacksonville, Ill. 62650
I'll be looking for your letter—meanwhile here are some of the answers I received.

"Homework!"
"Boys."
"Shakespeare and Washington."

"One big headache."

"The last chance I have of getting a good start in life."
Well—wasn't that last one really yours? Many high school students do not go on to a four year college. They will find an opportunity for a rewarding, self-filling career if they are prepared. IF THEY ARE PREPARED!

Now is the time to prepare while you are still in school. The future might seem as far away as the Revolutionary War now—but watch out. The future has a nasty habit of suddenly becoming the present.

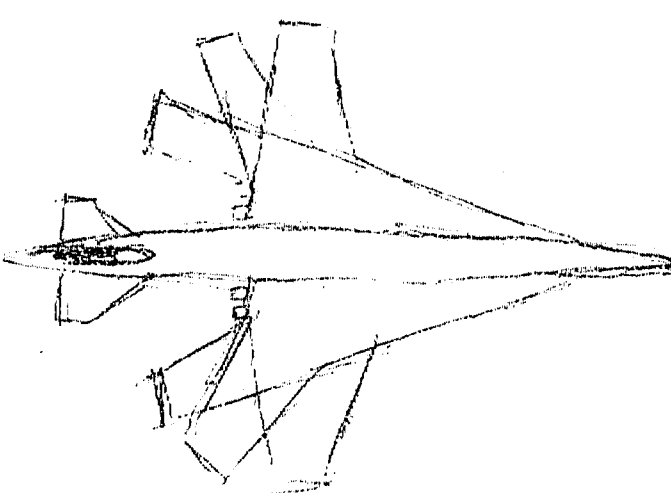

Your minimum requirement is a diploma. Remember America is the land of opportunity.

See you next week, meantime—hey write a letter on this or any subject you want to sound off on. Bye.

WINGS FOR THE SST

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.

On the last day of 1966 the Federal Aviation Administration announced that it had chosen Boeing Aircraft to build the Supersonic Transport (SST), shown in the picture above. A prototype of this giant jet, capable of carrying 300 people, should be flying by 1968.

As the SST whistles down the runway for take-off its small wings will stick almost straight out from each side. Then as it climbs toward the edge of space the wings will gradually fold back, like the wings of a falcon, as the huge liner reaches its 2,000 mile per hour flying speed. These folding wings will allow the plane to take off from runways used by today's subsonic jets.

Flying Guppy
Engineers have been working on "variable swept" wings as they call those of the SST for nearly twenty years. The first plane to test this type of wings was the X-5 designed by Bell Aircraft in 1949. The mechanism for sweeping back the wings took up so much room that the engine of the X-5 had to be mounted below the fuselage (body) of the plane. This gave the X-5 the odd shape which earned it the nickname "Flying Guppy."

The first X-5 made its initial flight on June 20, 1951 with Bell test pilot Skip Ziegler at the controls. A second X-5 was flown a year later. Both planes made numerous test flights for Bell Aircraft and the Air Force. On October 14, 1953, the second X-5 crashed during a spin test killing the pilot, Air Force Major Ramon A. Popson. The first continued its tests until 1955 when it was retired and placed on display in the Air Force Central Museum.

The experience gained by the X-5 led to the development of the TFX (Tactical Fighter Experimental) which later became the F-111. Both Boeing and General Dynamics submitted proposals for the TFX but General Dynamics won the Air Force Contract. However, the experience gained by Boeing was put to good use in designing their SST.

ELECTION TIME

By John Rankin

There was just a trace of springlike weather in the air and the schoolyard was showing green under a bright sun. And as Billy got on his bicycle and started across town for home a light breeze that was soft and refreshing added a touch of early spring to the day. Even the birds singing in the vines and shrubs growing along the tree-lined street seemed to speak of balmy springtime.

The upcoming primary election was close at hand and pictures of office seekers of the two major political parties appeared on billboards and on posters tacked on trees and other suitable places. In addition trucks using loudspeakers toured the town proclaiming the merits and qualifications of various candidates.

Finding little interest in such things as politics, Billy threaded his bicycle through the heavy traffic and hurried home. He tossed the light jacket he was wearing in the general direction of a chair as he breezed through the living room and went on through the house to the kitchen. "Hi, Mom, when do we eat?" he asked with a boyish eagerness as his mother turned from the stove.

She gave him a permissive smile. "Supper is about ready, dear, but your father isn't home from the office yet, and Gramps stalked off in a huff a bit ago. I suspect he's down at the political headquarters on the corner."

Billy's eyes lit up with an amused glow. "Maybe trying to tell everybody how to vote," he said with a grin. "Bet he gets into a red-hot argument with somebody before it's over. He always does around election time."

Mom was arranging knives and forks on the table, her expression serious as she paused to glance up at Billy. "He'll argue with anyone that doesn't share his political views," she said with conviction. "And the way he and old Mr. Healy across the street were shouting at each other a little while ago was disgraceful. Why if I hadn't stepped in when I did they might have actually come to blows!"

A car stopped in the drive just then. Billy's dad was home. Then by the time Mom had supper ready Gramps stormed in. "The nerve of that Hanratty fellow down at the club trying to tell me how to vote!" He bristled as everybody sat down to the table. "He and that young upstart, Downing. Why I was running things in this ward when they were in kindergarten, and we had a much stronger party and better candidates to choose from too."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Antonio Stradivari method of making fine violins remains something of a secret, according to The World Almanac. The perfection of these famed instruments was probably due in part to the superb quality of wood and varnish used in construction. So perfect were the violins of the 16th and 17th century with their smooth texture, soft orange to red color and excellent tonal quality, that modern makers have not been able to equal them, in the opinion of most experts.

Eastern Earthquakes Earthquakes do occur in the eastern United States. One earthquake which shook Charleston, S.C., with such severity on Aug. 31, 1886, that "pictures were found with faces to the wall," was felt in New York and Boston. The quake occurred 12 miles beneath Charleston.

Censorship Denied Pentagon Centralizing Flow Of News To Troops

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pentagon is centralizing the flow of news to servicemen abroad, but says the move is a physical one, aimed at efficiency and not news management.
However, Rep. John E. Moss,
D-Calif., chairman of the Special Government Information subcommittee, was on record today as looking into the matter.

The New York and Los Angeles offices of the official Armed Forces Press, Radio and Television Service already have shifted to Arlington, Va. The New York Bureau of the Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, was expected to follow.

"I have directed the subcommittee staff to look into the Stars and Stripes matter and I will keep you advised on developments," Moss wrote Hu Blunk, managing editor of the Wenatchee (Wash.) Daily World and chairman of The Associated Press Managing Editors Freedom of Information Committee.

Blunk said he had received reports of a planned Pentagon centralization of news, and had written Moss about them.

In Washington, John Broger, civilian director of Armed Forces Information and Education, said creation of the Armed Forces News Bureau represented a physical centralization for the sake of efficiency and economy.

"There will be no difference in the handling of news but simply an increase in the flow of news," Broger said. "I've been in the news field for 35 years and I hold the same views on news as most people in a free society hold."

Broger denied any plans for censorship. He said both European and Pacific editions of Stars and Stripes will continue to receive Associated Press and United Press International news reports at overseas offices in Darmstadt, Germany, and Tokyo.

Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, said AP had informed the director for Armed Forces Information and Education that present AP news contracts would not be renewed until the situation was clarified. The contracts expire June 30.

Both AP and UPI have provided news to the Armed Forces
Radio and Television Service and Stars and Stripes since the start of World War II. Throughout World War II, Gen. Dwight
D. Eisenhower strongly defended the editorial freedom of Stars and Stripes from high-ranking generals who wanted to make it an official mouthpiece.

SIXTY ATTEND ROODHOUSE FIREMEN'S DINNER

ROODHOUSE — The annual firemen's family dinner was held recently at Hopkins Community Hall with 60 in attendance. Don Snead, charter member of the Roodhouse Volunteer Fire Department, made a short talk and congratulated Allen
Barnett on his 30 years of continuous service. Mr. Barnett is retiring this year.

Fire Chief Kenneth Jackson introduced three new firemen:
Gary Gibbins, Jerry Plahn and Bill Weddersten. A fourth new member of the department, Denzil Arnold, was unable to be present.

Cline Lawson presented films showing department activities and the centennial parade.

A committee, with Bud Weddersten as chairman, was in charge of the meat and coffee for the meal.

Shorty Havlin presented the women present with gifts and Donald Snead gave each child a treat.

Do you have trouble saving? Most people do.
So here's a suggestion
you may find helpful.
First, decide how much money you want to save.
Five percent of take-

Dior Takes Fashion Safari Into Africa

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Dior took a safari to darkest Africa, showing native embroidery, chiefs' costumes and bush jackets for spring and summer. On the way, designer Marc Bohan hiked skirts to about three inches above the knee in many of his splashy daytime dresses and suits.

Dior models had body-hugging silhouettes, sometimes belted in gold chain, and there were amulet charms everywhere.

Tailored suits were all designed with patch pockets like hunters' bush jackets, again with gold curb chains. For afternoon and cocktail wear, there were African chiefs' headresses. A large group of little tailored suits snugly cut and mostly belted in gold curb chains were designed like bush jackets. All the hats were borrowed from the national park rangers, chin-strapped in gently rolled brimmed light straws. As the day developed into evening, tiny tiered headresses were perched on high-tied chignons, in the African mood. The tailored bush jackets and safari coats were mostly in gingham plaid wools, some very bright, others in pastels. They all had hemlines clearing the knees by three inches. Certain ones had inverted front pleats, some were worn over Bermudas and several were designed on culotte lines. Jackets were all treated to three or four patch pockets. Buttoned tabs at the low waist held the gold curb chains in place. One had a gold crocodile for a buckle. Native wooden beads, or local nuts, buttoned and decorated coats and suits. Triangular pointed nuts formed a headress and necklace as well as buttons. Triple gold choker necklaces recalled the Garbon jewelry, while tribal bracelets and wood were mixed with semiprecious stones. Earrings were small gold pearls. In the shoe department most models were laced oxford style and here, too, African woods, teak, and even marquetry inlays were shown beside basketworked leather. Stockings are mostly white, often finely textured.

Scared Him Into Launching Upheaval

400-Year-Old Ghost Haunts Mao

EDITOR'S NOTE — What is going on in China and what is the outlook? William L. Ryan, an AP specialist on Communist affairs, seeks to answer these and other questions.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The 400-year-old ghost of Hai Jui returned to haunt Mao Tse-tung and frightened him into launching the gigantic struggle that grips Communist China today.

The confusing and dangerous upheaval is traced by Chinese in the West to June 1959, and the publication of an essay called "Hai Jui's Scolding of the Emperor," made into a play two years later with the title of "Hai Jui's Dismissal."

When the essay and play appeared, says Dr. C.Y. Cheng, head of the University of Michigan Department of Chinese Studies, every Chinese intellectual and many nonintellectuals immediately recognized the symbolism.

Hai Jui, in the Chinese mind stands for righteousness and justice. In this case, he stood for Peng Teh-huai, whom Mao dismissed as defense minister because Peng opposed the "great leap forward" launched in March 1958.

The "leap" was supposed to transform China within three years into a mighty economic power — by regimenting the half-billion peasants in "people's communes" and by putting urban workers into millions of backyard smelters. The "leap" was headed for debacle even in its early stages.

The author of the essay and play was Wu Han, deputy mayor of Peking and right-hand man to the powerful mayor and Politburo member, Peng Chen, who was considered then an outstanding contender for Mao's mantle.

The work was a protest against Mao. Even as far back as 1958, the big struggle had begun. Mao's position had been considerably weakened late that year by opposition to his policies. His opponents included his old comrade-in-arms, long an heir apparent, Liu Shao-chi.

It now develops, from what is being disclosed in the internal propaganda war in Peking, that Mao was shoved aside as chairman of government, the equivalent of president, and retained only his party chairmanship. Liu took the presidency. Today's Red Guards wall newspapers claim Mao left the job against his will. Dr. Cheng says that probably is correct.

This is not the first power struggle in China, nor by any means the first big purge.

January 24, 1967

To Our Friends and Customers:

When I started to work for the Fisher Grocery Co. back in Nineteen Hundred Twenty Two, little did I realize that my service in the Food Industry would extend over a period of Forty Four eventful years!

After managing Piggly Wiggly Stores for Twenty One years, thereby being one of the first to introduce Self Service Grocery Shopping to this area, on July 1st, 1943 we purchased the Corner Grocery from Mr. and Mrs. William Swaby and since that time Dorothy and I have been pretty much on the jump operating Sibert's Red & White Grocery. We are now in our Twenty Fourth year in this location, and during this time we have had many fine people who have helped us to Keep the Store! Our supply houses have been good to us with their counsel and advice, and it seems like a never ending supply of new items to pass on to our customers. Without their help we never could have made it.

We have also had many fine Customers such as you and others that have made it possible for us to remain so long in this ever changing and interesting field of catering to the needs of the good people of Jacksonville and vicinity.

It has been a privilege to serve you these Forty Four Years, but we have come to the conclusion that it is time to retire from the Grocery Business and take a rest. Therefore Monday, January 30th, 1967 we are starting a Wall to Wall Sale and we hope you will take advantage of the many bargains and stock up your cupboards for future needs.

We want to express our Deepest Thanks to all who have been so kind and loyal over these many years, as we have come to know you as Friends and Customers and have many pleasant memories. We take this action with regret, but feel this is the proper time for it.

Sincerely,
C. W. Sibert

Troop 107 Welcomes Eight More Eagle Scouts

Chad Ormiston places the mother's miniature Eagle Pin on Mrs. Katherine Ormiston as his twin, Terry, looks on. The occasion was Mrs. Ormiston's third in which a son had received the rank of Eagle Scout. Her eldest, Tam Ormiston, received his Eagle Rank while in Troop 107 in 1963.

Two Hundred Attend Eagle Court Of Honor

The 18th annual Eagle Court of Honor for Troop 107, Joe Grojean, Scoutmaster and sponsored by Grace Methodist church, was held Jan. 25th at the church. Two hundred scouts and parents attended.

The invocation was given by Dr. Frank Nestler. A buffet supper was served by mothers of the Scouts. Mrs. Howard Choate served as chairman.

Jim Newman, Senior Patrol Leader, was in charge of opening ceremonies. Lee Sullivan, Jr., Troop committee chairman, welcomed guests, Mayor and Mrs. Byron Holkenbrink, Mr. and Mrs. Van Braidwood, assistant Council Scout Executive, J. R. Davidsmeyer, president of the Abraham Lincoln Council and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Applebee, chairman of the Abe Lincoln District.

The investiture ceremony was given by Dick Armstrong, District Scout Executive, assisted by Gary Byers, Jr., assistant Scoutmaster.

The following boys received neckerchiefs as Tenderfoot Scouts:

Mike Atkins, Kent Eyre, Gerald Gotschall, Kent Jordan, Bob Linbaugh, Mark Mason, Steve Sivilie, Howie Scott, Rich Simmons, Bill Wade and John Watson.

First Class awards went to: Richie Cruzan, Phil Houser, Edsel Miller and Don Spradlin.

Assistant Scoutmaster Ron Burchett presented Star Advancement awards to:

Mike Davidsmeyer, Brad Emerick, Ralph Foster, Matt Freesen, Pat Mitchell, Dennis Reeve and Bob Sullivan, and the Life Advancement awards to John Buchanan and Greg Surratt.

A. W. Applebee, District chairman, presented the Troop Charter to Oliver Buck, Institutional Representative, on behalf of Grace church. The Charter carries a gold medallion signifying forty years continual service of the Abraham Lincoln Council, also Assistant Scoutmaster of the Troop in past years, presented the Conover Advancement award to Greg Surratt. This award is given the boy in Troop 107 who has advanced the most in the past year. The Award was founded shortly after the death of James Conover and is awarded in memory of Mr. Conover's past service to the Boy Scouts of Jacksonville.

Dr. Nestler recognized boys in the Troop who have passed the God and Country tests the past year. Timmy Watson was recognized for the achievement.

Each year the committee picks a scout who they feel has contributed the most and who they would recognize as the outstanding scout on the summer trip. The Best Camper Award for the trip of 1966 went to Randy Sivilie.

Of the fifty-two Eagle Scouts in the troop since 1949, nineteen were present for the meeting:

Roger Cannell, 1949; Mike Smith, 1953; Ivan Dunn, 1954; Alan Ravn, 1960; Richard Newman, 1960; Ron Stevenson, 1961; John Woods, 1961; Bill Weller, 1961; David Vorhes, 1962; Robert Bellatti, 1962.

Gary Byers, 1963; Bill Freeman, 1963; Tam Ormiston, 1963; Chris Corey, 1964; Dick Vorhes, 1964; Jim Newman, 1965; Dick Scott, 1965 and Fred Grant, 1965.

After roll call of former Eagle Scouts Scoutmaster Joe Grojean called on Roger Cannell, the first Eagle Scout under Grojean, to assist in presenting the ranks to the incoming Eagle Scouts:

Norman Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Foster.

Kerry Freesen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Freesen.

Robert Freesen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Freesen.

Charles Grojean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grojean.

Randy Sivilie, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sivilie.

Plan Memorial Dedication At Church In Crown

MT. STERLING Mrs. Herschel Reed, widow of the late Rev. Reed, pastor of the local Christian church, will be guest of honor at a memorial dinner at 6:30 p.m. Sunday evening, Feb. 5th in Fellowship Hall at the church.

Members are planning a dedication service at the morning worship service on that date for the new cross and candlesticks which Mrs. Reed presented the church in memory of her husband.

In case of bad weather the evening dinner will be postponed until the following Sunday.

Mrs. LeRoy Sivilie—Sam Weller, son of Mrs. LeRoy Sivilie.

Terry Ormiston, son of Mrs. Katherine Ormiston.

Chad Ormiston, son of Mrs. Katherine Ormiston.

In the presence of these eight boys, Mayor Holkenbrink charged them with the responsibility of the Eagle Award. Mayor Holkenbrink is keenly aware of the boy scout movement. He has worked closely with these boys in achieving their service projects. Mayor Holkenbrink congratulated each boy and his parents as he pinned the Eagle Badge upon each scout. The meeting was adjourned to show the movies of the fourteen day trip taken in 1966 to Yellowstone National Park.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Gains outnumbered losses in the stock market again last week but some popular averages declined. The big 1967 advance showed signs of consolidating.

The evidence of hesitation came just as Wall Street received clear verification that interest rates were coming down and the money squeeze was easing.

For the stock market community, this was the best news of all because last year it was the money squeeze, represented by rising interest rates and tightening credit, that was cited as the outstanding factor in sending stock prices down.

This year it has been anticipation of lower interest rates plus the release of big investment funds into the stock market which has spurred the market to one of the most remarkable recovery drives in history.

The question of the Street at the weekend was: Now that interest rates have been chopped, what other thing will the market anticipate? It is the market's historic role to discount news well in advance, whether it be good or bad.

Of the 1,935 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange last week, 83% advanced and 61% declined.

Because of weakness in some of its component blue chips, however, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks declined 3.12 to 844.04.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks took a small loss of .7 at 313.7.

Volume for the week was heavy, totaling 51,888,200 shares compared with 53,036,120 the previous week.

On Friday, the Market of America and most of the nation's major banks reduced their prime rates to 5 1/2 per cent from 6 per cent and the market rose from the start.

The five most active issues last week were Gulf & Western Industries, up 6 1/4 at 44 1/4 on 635,500 shares; Sperry Rand, off 3/4 at 29 1/4; SCM Corp., off 1/2 at 66 1/4; Control Data, up 1/4 at 47 1/4; and Ampex, up 1/2 at 30.

Bond prices rallied last week following bank cuts in the prime interest rate for business loans.

After the cut announcements, governments gained up to $10, more than making up for losses earlier in the week. Other bond market departments closed unchanged to lower.

on the grave of Joseph V. Stalin last Wednesday.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry staged a rival news conference to respond to the Chinese charges. It said the Red Square incident was a provocation planned by a Chinese Embassy official.

The Japanese dispatches from Peking said 100,000 Chinese took part in the anti-Soviet demonstration. It was the third straight day of anti-Soviet demonstrations in the midst of a power struggle between Chinese Communist leader Mao and President Liu.

The Japanese accounts said that the army troops appeared on the scene for the first time Saturday.

At the same time, the Japanese correspondents said all posters in Peking said the situation in Sianjing remained tense although no military activity was reported from Shihhotze and nearby Tushantze were more than 100 persons were reported killed and scores injured in armed clashes between followers of Mao and Liu.

IREC Reports Extensive Damage To Lines

By Naomi Lawson (Winchester Correspondent)

(Telephone 712-3190)

WINCHESTER — The Illinois Rural Electric Company reports extensive damage to its 3,400 miles of line serving 3,400 rural electric consumers by the ice storm which occurred Thursday and Friday.

S. R. Faris, manager, reported that by 10 a.m. Saturday 85 per cent of the system was back in service and all primary lines were operating by noon with the exception of those down in private right-of-way.

The cooperative has been assisted by crews from cooperatives in New London and Palmyra, Mo., Adams Electrical Cooperative, Camp Point; McDonough Power Cooperative, Macomb and Illinois Valley Cooperative, Princeton.

Damage was most extensive in counties south and east of Scott, where numerous poles were broken or fell from the weight of the ice and a considerable number of broken wires were downed.

It is the plan of the cooperative to deenergize the system when the ice starts to leave the lines, thus preventing breakdowns caused by the wires snapping together. Mr. Faris requested any individuals whose service is not restored when the main lines are energized to report the outage at once. He expressed appreciation for the long hours spent by the crews in restoring service under adverse conditions and expressed gratitude for the patience expressed by the member-consumers whose electricity is so essential to them.

Plan Choral Concert

The Winchester High School chorus will present an informal afternoon concert at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 5 at the high school auditorium, the first of what is hoped will be a series of Sunday afternoon concerts.

The concert will consist of selections from the Liebes-Leider (Love Song) Waltzes by Brahms. Though works by Brahms are frequently labeled dark in romantic tradition, this selection of waltzes shows sunny lightness.

Although it is not the practice of the choir to be accompanied, music for "fourhands" is an intricate part of the program. The accompanists are Patti Wiley and Faith Moore.

Cancellation

The Cub Scout meeting which was to have been held January 29 has been postponed until February 4 at the Legion Hall in Winchester.

Ministerial Meeting

There will be Ministerial meetings February 2, 3, and 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the Pleasant Hill Baptist church.

Reverend Edgar Schultz of Roodhouse will speak February 2, Reverend William Martin of White Hall on February 3, and Reverend L. E. Hutchings, February 4.

Pollock Scheduled

A pollock banquet will be held at the First Baptist church February 1.

The program will be furnished by the Coachman's Quartet of Jacksonville, members of the SPEBSQSA.

Final decisions in the church renovation program will be made.

CWF To Meet

The general meeting of CWF will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, at the church.

Miss Maude Gillham will present the lesson "Christ or Extremes". Mrs. John Craig will be in charge of the devotion.

The Dorcas Circle will be the hosts.

School Menu

Monday — Goulash, cabbage salad, apple butter, hot rolls, butter, milk and peaches.

Tuesday — Chopped steak, candied sweet potatoes, green beans, bread, milk and applesauce.

Wednesday — Fried chicken, cream gravy, mashed potatoes, jello salad, bread, butter, milk and cookie.

Thursday — Hamburger on bun, mustard, catsup, chili chips, potato chips, buttered corn, milk and rice krispies treats.

Friday — Fish sticks, combination salad, buttered corn, peas, bread, butter, milk and tangerine.

TWO FIRE CALLS SATURDAY

There was no apparent fire damage resulting from two alarms answered Saturday by city firemen.

The latest run was made at about 9:25 this morning when a car was reported on fire at the Charles DeWesse residence, No. 3 Hartsfield Court. But, firemen reported there was no actual fire. There was some smoke coming from under the hood of the car, but this is believed to have been caused by a malfunction of the transmission.

At 4:18 this morning, the local fire fighters made a run to the home of LeRoy Buchanan at 713 North Prairie. An oil furnace had overloaded with oil, but the difficulty had been taken care of when firemen arrived.

Marines were the most heavily engaged of U.S. ground forces Friday. They reported a total of 45 enemy dead after three actions in the northern provinces.

Stormy weather saved the upper reaches of North Vietnam from attack Friday, but American squadrons flew 85 missions — the high of the week — against highways, bridges, coastal vessels and staging areas in the southern section.

One of the raiders, a U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom Jet, was shot down on a strafing run against a truck park. The crewmen — Maj. James A. Hargrove Jr., Myrtle Beach, S.C., and Lt. Lawrence D. Peterson, Alden, Minn., parachuted into the South China Sea, where they described as "comfortable, but chilly." A Marine helicopter rescued them.

The supersonic Phantom was the 467th plane officially acknowledged lost in the air campaign against North Vietnam's military supplies and infiltration routes that rounds out its second year Feb. 6.

Helicopter gunners based in South Vietnam said they had killed 68 of the enemy in two strikes.

In the fire raid, B52 jet Stratofortresses rained World War II magnesium bombs on 18 square miles of War Zone C northwest of Saigon, to which guerrillas have returned after their mauling in Operation Attleboro last fall.

Lucy Kopsie, Former Scott Resident, Dies

WINCHESTER — Mrs. Lucy Kopsie, 56, passed away at noon Saturday at St. Joseph's hospital in Alton where she had been a patient three days. Mrs. Kopsie, a former Scott County resident, lived in Alton.

Born in Winchester June 22, 1910; she was the daughter of George H. and Sadie Jane Welch King.

Her parents, one brother and three halfbrothers preceded her in death.

Surviving is her husband, Walter.

The body was taken to the Cunningham Funeral Home in Winchester. Arrangements are incomplete.

Politics Involved In Battle Over State Revenue

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, a Democrat, and downstate city leaders will beg the Republican majority in the Illinois House this week for tax help.

Politics are tangling this and other new revenue efforts by local governments. Revenue is sought partly to stave off city and county employee dissatisfaction with salaries. Daley is a candidate for re-election.

Last week, the state Senate Republican majority leader, Sen. W. Russell Arrington, lost an attempt to divert $15 million expenses and hospital nurse salaries.

Some GOP senators opposed the diversion asked by a Republican, Richard Ogilvie, Cook County Board president. Ogilvie needs action before Feb. 23, his budget deadline.

Sen. Thomas McGloin, of Chicago, Democratic minority leader, who refused to help the Arrington effort, was seeking a conference with him over the weekend.

The legislature reconvenes Tuesday. Republicans control both houses, but do not have enough votes to pass emergency measures like the diversion without Democratic help.

"Many things should be discussed before we go rushing in to help," McGloin told a reporter. "There are three pressing problems, money for education, for cities and for counties."

"I'm desirous of having the leadership of the House and Senate talk before Tuesday," he added. "I think Daley will rely on our judgment."

Last week, Arrington related the Democratic refusal to support him to Chicago Democratic resentment of Republican efforts to put a ceiling on Chicago property taxes. This is slated for hearing this week also.

Democratic ambition to pass the city tax package for Chicago, including a half cent sales tax boost, was considered another factor.

Monday, some help will be offered downstate local governments by Arrington and Maurice Scott, of the Taxpayers Federation of Illinois. They will propose to raise property tax rate limitations for counties, cities, townships and special districts.

Wednesday, Daley and other mayors are slated to ask the House Municipalities Committee for the tax package, which includes levies on cigarettes, liquor and motels or hotels.

A.L. Sargent, executive director of the Illinois Municipal League, said cities are troubled by discontent of policemen, firemen and other employees with salaries.

"If we keep them satisfied, they are not going to go on strike," Sargent said.

He noted firemen had labor troubles in Danville, Preppert and Alton.

"It's about time we called a spade a spade. These people aren't hesitating to use strikes against government. If they don't strike, they get sick," he said. "But we haven't had as much trouble as the schools have had with teachers."

"We can't any longer say, 'Let the police quit,' because we can't recruit them and we are required to try to recruit them at home," Sargent added.

SCHUYLER CHAPTER RED CROSS TO MEET JAN. 30

RUSHVILLE — The Schuyler Chapter American Red Cross will hold an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 30 at P.C. Gourmet in Rushville.

Township directors will be named and plans will be made for the fund drive to be held during the month of March.

Born in Morgan County Feb. 1, 1891, he was the son of Elmer H. and Avarilla Branch Ticknor. He was married to the former Edith Grace Hopcroft, who survives.

Also surviving is one son, Richard E. Ticknor of Elgin; four grandsons, two great-granddaughters and one great-grandson.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Gillham-Buchanan Funeral Home.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m. Monday.

Local Firm Gets Greene Project

A Jacksonville firm is the apparent low bidder on a rest area project in Greene County.

A bid of $29,933 was submitted by the Caldwell Engineering Company for a rest area to be constructed U.S. 67, approximately eight miles north of Greenville.

The bid was one of 249 received by the Illinois Division of Highways for construction and related work on 89 projects listed in the first of eight lettings scheduled for 1967.

The low bids on the 89 projects totaled over 29 million dollars.

Public works director Francis S. Lorenz said the bids will be analyzed by engineers of the Division of Highways before contracts are awarded.

STATE PLAYOFFS
NOT SO BAD

With another round of state high school basketball playoffs due to get underway in a little over a month, the annual cry by a few to change the present setup of one class-one champion will undoubtedly be heard again.

Every year a lot of fans and a few sports writers get on a kick to have Illinois join the ranks of states who use a class system, based on school enrollment. Their plea is one to give the small school a chance to reap some of the basketball rewards dominated by the larger enrollment schools.

Those who are sincerely bothered by the current arrangement and who have looked into the matter can give you some mighty convincing facts to back up their argument. They can halfheartedly convince a listener that the small schools around the state and the Chicago schools are annually hurt by the 'one winner setup.'

FOR INSTANCE, in 59 years only Hebron among the small schools has ever won a state tournament, leaving the small schools battling a meager .017 in that category. Since the start of District tournaments in 1936, only ten schools have made it to the Sweet 16. Each year about 254 schools play in Districts, leaving a percentage rate of .0012. In 30 years of Districts only 56 schools have even made it to the Sectional level, a .007 average.

In contrast, many of the state's larger schools can offer most impressive Regional and possibly Sectional statistics, and some can even to the state level. Champaign has been to the Sweet 16 on 21 occasions, Decatur 22, Galesburg 20 and Springfield 19.

OTHER ARGUMENTS contend that the large schools are almost always put in Regionals with five, six or seven much smaller schools, and almost always have the home-court advantage because theirs is the best gymnasium.

This list of arguments and statistics is almost endless. And, it's hard to argue that all of these points are not valid. However, we suspect their people refuse to look at a few other sides of the picture.

First of all, let us say that we are as much against a class system as some are for it, so our outlook may also be a bit clouded.

We agree that the small school of say 100-500 cannot hope to compete with the many schools in the state with a much larger enrollment, some ranging to over 5,000. Barry cannot expect to beat Quincy, or Virden take Springfield or Franklin whip Jacksonville (area examples) over once in perhaps 15 or 20 years.

BUT DOESN'T the small school get more out of winning that one game in that long a period of time than it does splitting with or holding a slight edge on schools its own size? Doesn't the small school look forward to playing a bigger school and giving it a shot more than playing in its own league year after year? They have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Our other point is that the start of any class system would throw schedules and conference alignments into an almost constant state of change. Consolidations and increased enrollments occur rather frequently now, and many of the smaller schools would be forced to alter some of the best parts of their schedule.

AND, WHEN you start putting a playoff arrangement into three, four, five or more (Texas has seven) classes, that takes so much of the luster off the championship of any class. There is always that question of whether the Class A champion is really better than the Class B winner, and so on. We like the idea of one state champion, and no questions left.

Also in this vein, an outstanding small school player improves against better competition, and he is not likely to get as much attention playing strictly against schools his own size. Competition will improve a small school team much more than the reverse.

SOME OF the critics say they would even settle for two classes, with about 300 enrollment the cutoff. We fail to see how this would solve anything. The 300-enrollment school would still dominate the 50-100 enrollment school, and the 3,000-5,000 would still have little to fear from the 300-1,000 schools.

On the arguments that the Chicago-area teams are getting the short end of the deal; the current setup allows only one Chicago proper team and no more than two Suburban schools in the Sweet 16, and they may meet in the first round at Champaign; we have to agree. The large-enrollment Chicago-area teams that fall by the wayside early, some in District play, are quite often stronger than many downstate Regional or even Sectional winners.

THERE ARE annual cries for more Chicago teams getting a chance to make the Sectional and Sweet 16 levels, but the big downstate argument against that is the fact that Chicago would quickly begin to dominate the entire series.

The big reason for that is the fact that the Chicago schools are almost all much larger than all but a small percentage of the downstate schools. Thus, the Chicago teams will have an opportunity to play much stiffer competition. A downstate team would have to virtually tour the state to meet equal competition.

We don't look for any drastic changes in the near future, other than a possible doing away with the Districts to have more Regionals, because we feel the majority of the people would still rather let the small school cling to their 'dream' as opposed to having several champions.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — New Year's Eve 1963 . . . Pittsburgh . . . the scheduled game in the Civic Arena matched the Pittsburgh Renas against the Kansas City Steers . . .

Unfortunately, the game never was played because the American Basketball League collapsed a few hours before the tip off.

The last memories of the ABL are a bit blurred now, but thinking back to that day one incident does stand out, an incident involving a Pittsburgh backcourtman, Phil Rollins, who was trying desperately to get his final paycheck from the club.

It was typical of the way the ABL conducted its affairs. In a way, it also was typical of professional basketball. This is a sport, some insist, that survives in spite of itself.

It is a sport — with the greatest of all the professional athletes — filling a void between the endless professional football season and the opening of baseball season.

Part of its trouble is the product. The players are too good for the game. They have made it a boring syndrome of run-shoot-score.

It is a game where the 24-second rule has ruined all hopes for genuine team play and it is a game where a team with the best big men can dominate.

The National Basketball Association is expanding next year to Seattle, a poor risk, and San Diego, a good one. Insiders insist the NBA is expanding because it wants to beat a new professional league to the prime cities not represented in professional basketball.

The new league is the American Basketball Association. It hopes to duplicate the success of the American Football League by forcing a price war with the older, established NBA.

The new league is to have teams in New York, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Oakland, Houston, Dallas, Louisville and Anaheim, Calif.

Former West Point basketball great Mark Binstein is the temporary commissioner of the new league. He left a lucrative job with a prominent New Jersey brokerage house to work for the American Basketball Association.

"I wouldn't have done it," he said. "If I didn't think this was a solid thing with plenty of backing behind it."

The new league says it will be different from the defunct American Basketball League, which also had teams in Pittsburgh, Oakland and New York, because it has more money behind the franchises and it will have "name" players.

"Yes," said Wilt Chamberlain, "I have been approached. I do listen to all financial offers. That is all I can tell you."

Wilt is not the only superstar to be contacted by the new league. "I know some of the other names," Wilt admitted, "but I cannot reveal them."

"I think there is room for a new league, even when the NBA goes to 12 teams."

The ABA will concentrate on players with gripes against the NBA.

Wilt has been involved in a number of battles with the league hierarchy, but now he is playing with a club — the Philadelphia 76ers — that has a chance to amass the greatest record in the history of professional sport.

"Does this make a difference to you?" Wilt was asked. "It has nothing to do with it," he answered. "You ask if a pro has allegiance to his team. Well, did the Los Angeles Lakers have allegiance to Rudy LaRusso when they traded him — after all those years — in the middle of the season? Did the Detroit Pistons have allegiance to Chink Scott?"

"Sure," he added, "I'll listen to offers. And I'll do what's good for Wilt Chamberlain."

The American Football League has proved that all you need for success today is money — and television.

Apparently the ABA thinks the same way. One of the three networks is said to be interested — and low-level talks have been held.

Actually, there is room for another professional basketball league — or an expanded NBA. The Eastern and Midwest leagues have a number of talented players and there are other fine athletes on the Amateur Athletic Union teams scattered around the country.

The key is television. The NBA isn't that big a draw now. Would the public go for a new league, supported by a few name players who might jump the NBA?

It sounds very much like New Year's Eve in Pittsburgh, 1963.

Brown Leads Crimson
Past Hannibal, 68-60Jacks Break
On Top In First Half

By BUFORD GREEN

Sports Editor

Scrappy guard Abe Brown led Jacksonville to a 12-point halftime lead that was never threatened as the Crimson rolled to a 68-60 triumph over Hannibal, at the JHS Bowl Saturday evening.

Brown, who finished with 27 points, had perhaps his best game of the season in pouring in 16 in the first half and giving the Crimson a command that was never really questioned.

With Brown, a 5-9 senior guard, scoring 12 of the first 13 points in the second period Jacksonville pulled from a 17-11 first period final to 13 points in front midway through the second eight minutes. The Crimson led by 12 at intermission and Hannibal never got closer than 11 points until the final 15 seconds.

The game was scheduled Friday after JHS's four-team tournament was canceled because Crane Tech and Wells of Chicago were unable to get out of the city due to a severe winter storm.

Despite controlling the game most of the way, Jacksonville was something less than sharp in boosting its record to 3-7 on the season. The Crimson were guilty of sloppy play at several points, committing 22 turnovers in the contest. Hannibal, now 8-8, committed 25 floor mistakes, mostly against JHS's pressing defense.

Jacks Break Away

After a slow start and a tie at 4-4, Rich Coble hit two long-range buckets, Duane Hess one from the baseline, freshman Chad Ormiston, starting his first varsity game, hit a three-point play and Brown stole the ball for a two-pointer and Jacksonville ripped off 11 straight for a 15-4 bulge with 2:37 left in the opening frame.

Hannibal refused to fold for the remainder of the quarter as Mike Davis hit two baskets and Tom Murphy a three-point play and the Pirates closed the gap to 17-11 after eight minutes.

The second period belonged to Brown. He struck for six points in the opening minute, then followed with a 15-footer and a layup after a steal to boost the difference to 28-15 with 2:37 showing in the half. Brown added four free throws and Coble and Mounts two points each in the remaining time as the Crimson took a 36-24 intermission margin in at halftime.

Keep In Command

Sophomore center Duane Mounts and Brown led the Crimson in the third stanza, as JHS led by at least 12 but never by more than 15 in the chapter.

With Coble hitting four points, Brown three and Ormiston and Hess two each, Jacksonville quickly settled any doubt about the outcome by padding its lead to 20 points, 64-44, with 3:23 to play.

With the second teams inaction the rest of the way, Hannibal managed to steal the ball three times and slice the margin to eight with only four seconds showing.

The two clubs were about even from the field, with Jacksonville hitting 44% by the losers. The slightly taller Crimson held a 32-23 rebounding lead, 14-11 on the offensive boards.

Spartans Coast
To 68-51 Victory
Over Wisconsin

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) —Michigan State moved quickly into a 14-point lead and then coasted the rest of the game Saturday to defeat Wisconsin 68-51 in a Big Ten basketball game.

The Spartan attack was paced by Steve Rymal, a junior guard, who scored a career high of 21 points. Teammates Lee Lafayette and Shannon Reading added 18 and 15 points respectively.

Michigan State held a 37-26 halftime lead.

A tight MSU defense held Wisconsin's Chuck Nagle in check. Nagle, who had been averaging well over 20 points a game, was held to 10 points. Joe Franklin led the Badger scoring, with 11 points.

The victory gave MSU a 3-1 conference record, and an 8-4 over-all mark. Wisconsin is 2-2 in Big Ten play, and 7-7 for the season.

Mac Game,

Mat Meet

Postponed

MacMurray's return to action following semester break was delayed by the weather Saturday as both a basketball game and wrestling meet were postponed due to inability of the visiting teams to get to Jacksonville.

The basketball game with

was rescheduled for Wednesday, March 1, and will now be the Highlanders' last regular season match. According to Bill

Wall, Mac Athletic Director,

the contest with Lewis will be a key factor in the NAIA postseason tournament with both schools vying for an independent bid in the Illinois district.

The clan will play at Lewis also, on Feb. 17.

The wrestling meet against

Wheaton College scheduled for Saturday evening was postponed indefinitely, pending a completion of arrangements for rescheduling. Every attempt will be made to hold the match here at a later date this season.

George Manker highlighted last week's local league action with a pair of superb outings, netting a 269 game in Thursday Nite Men's League before totaling a 907 four-game series in 3-Man Classic League play Friday night.

Both feats rate second high among season totals. Dick Barnes holds the game high with a 271 effort, while Gerald Lacey's recent 923 four-game set holds down the other. Manker's 738 mark tops all 3-game totals this year.

Manker's 269 teamed up with games of 193 and 205 for a 667 set, also finishing 4-0. Thursday Nite Men's League high. The game also sparked Rutland to the league best team game — 1,071. Birdsall Candies took advantage of the Jokers' skid during the action to up its lead to eight games, Grace Methodist moved up a slot to third: 8½ games back.

The stellar 907 aided the Bowling Center to a four-game sweep, netted via a high 2,437 total, that kept the squad's 12-game Scratch Classic League lead intact.

Second-running Powell's Body Shop copped high game (648), while also finishing 4-0. Howard Arundel and Fred Olsen shared game high honors with identical 246s.

Cox-Buick Pontiac took over first place in the closely contested Elks League race last week by sweeping three from the former leaders, Baker Chevrolet.

Elgin Cress led the way by reeling off games of 213, 234 and 201 for a nifty 648 series; the league's second high for the year. Ralph Eoff continued his hot shooting by setting a new league single game high—257. Walgreen's Self-Service copped all three from Henry Nelch, while shooting the second-highest team series, a 3150, on games of 1000, 1095 and 1055.

Team totals of 695 and 2006 powered Dempsey's TV into second place in the C D of A League last week via a 3-0 outing. Dempsey now rates eighth games behind Lucky Boy which also netted a sweep for the day.

Louis Smith's 449 set and a 166 by Anna Mae Cox rated individual highs.

K of C League leaders Leonard and Six used the week high team total of 1078 on way to a 3-game sweep last week to reach out in front by 8½ games. Roach Plumbing kept pace with a 3-0 night. Mike Apatis fired games of 213, 182 and 193 for a 588 series in leading Walgreen Drugs to the high team set — 2973.

Hillcrest Mobile Homes notched week highs of 801 and 2257 last week, but still lost a game off its Pla-Mor League lead to the fast-rising Swift's Hatchery unit.

Swift's, led by Doris Shay's 165, 154, 183 — 502 outing, went 3-0 to surpass A.C.W.A. for the standing's second slot.

Donna Strape threw in a superb 224 to pace all scorers. Last-place Gordon Implement pulled off a 3-game sweep over top-running Jim's Big Value last week to tighten up the Community League standings.

Jim's, who went into the action three games out in front, now rates a single game lead over Kordite. Third place VFW, sparked by Gerald Lacey's 193, 231, 161—585 outing, recorded the team high (1063), while Wood's Mobil Oil picked up the series best on a 3081.

Blackhawk Restaurant managed games of 839, 824 and 903 for a new high 2586 series to move back into contention in the Bowlerette League.

The circuit high tallies netted a 3-0 showing which put Blackhawk into third place, six games off Bates Market's leading pace. Ingram Electric stands second, five games out.

Selma Staake sparked Blackhawk's surge with a 154, 169, 223—546 recording.

Jacksonville Merchants League action last week saw W.J.L. Radio up its single game lead to a three game spread, via a 2-1 faring.

Pat Boston put together games of 174, 177 and 190 for a high 541 set, while Doris Walz notched an individual high of 222.

Team honors went to Olson's Cleaners and Agans Oil on respective 840 and 2333 counts.

Weather conditions limited last week's Rockette League action, leaving several matches to be completed at a later date. Marian Manker and Nancy Turner sparked Penza Realtors to team highs of 855 and 2275 in the snow-shortened play with individual high marks of 590 and 213.

Pabst reeled off high team totals of 1056 and 3085 to move into contention in the Town and Country League last week. A

Snowstorm Hits Sports Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The crippling snowstorm which paralyzed transportation in the Midwest continued Saturday to force postponements and cancellations of numerous sporting events, including a National Basketball Association game between Detroit and Chicago.

Ed Coll, the Pistons' general manager, said the Bulls had been unable to arrange for air transportation out of Chicago and could not reach Detroit by car or bus since highways between the two cities are impassable.

Coll said the game, originally scheduled for Saturday night, will be rescheduled at a later date.

The situation was much the same as a basketball game between Ohio State and Northwestern at Evanston, Ill., was postponed, a swimming meet between Northwestern and Minnesota was canceled and a rifle match between Air Force and the Royal Military College of Canada was called off.

Big Ten Game Off
The Ohio State-Northwestern basketball game was postponed until Monday night when Northwestern officials learned the Buckeyes would be unable to make the trip from Columbus, Ohio.

Northwestern was unable to make arrangements to get to Minnesota, forcing cancellation of their swimming meet and the Air Force pistol and rifle team arrived in Detroit en route to Kingston, Ont., but were unable to get any further.

Meanwhile, the storm, which forced postponement of UCLA's test against the Illinois basketball team from Friday to Sunday, forced the calling off of Brigham Young's game against Loyola of Chicago on the same Chicago Stadium program.

The four teams were supposed to play in a doubleheader Friday but late arrivals due to transportation difficulties forced the shifting of the program to Sunday.

Officials at Brigham Young, a Mormon school, said the religion prohibits Sunday sports activity. "We believe in athletics," said Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson, BYU president. "But they do not supersede the Ten Commandments."

Rob Crain paced the Spartan scoring attack with 22 points, and Mike Selvo led Carlinville with 21.

The win boosts the Cavaliers' season record to 14-3, and North Greene drops to a 15-3 slate.

ASHLAND — Nine men scored for the Ashland Panthers as they led all the way to post a 62-44 non-conference win over Petersburg Porta here Saturday night.

Easing to an eight point half-time spread, Ashland increased the margin to 11 scorers with 21 markers, 11 of them in the final frame to put the game away for the hosts. Dave Klein and Randy Gutman combined for 12 of the Panthers' 14 points in the second quarter, hitting six each during the period, and each wound up with ten for the night.

Only one Bluejay made double figures, Gene Washington, as he led the losers with 10 points. Both squads posted adequate shooting marks as Ashland hit for 39% and Porta produced a 41% effort. The Panthers outscored the visitors considerably, however, sharing 51 off the boards.

Free throw accuracy helped tell the story as the winners canned 16 of 20 attempts while Porta could hit only 6 of 13 tries.

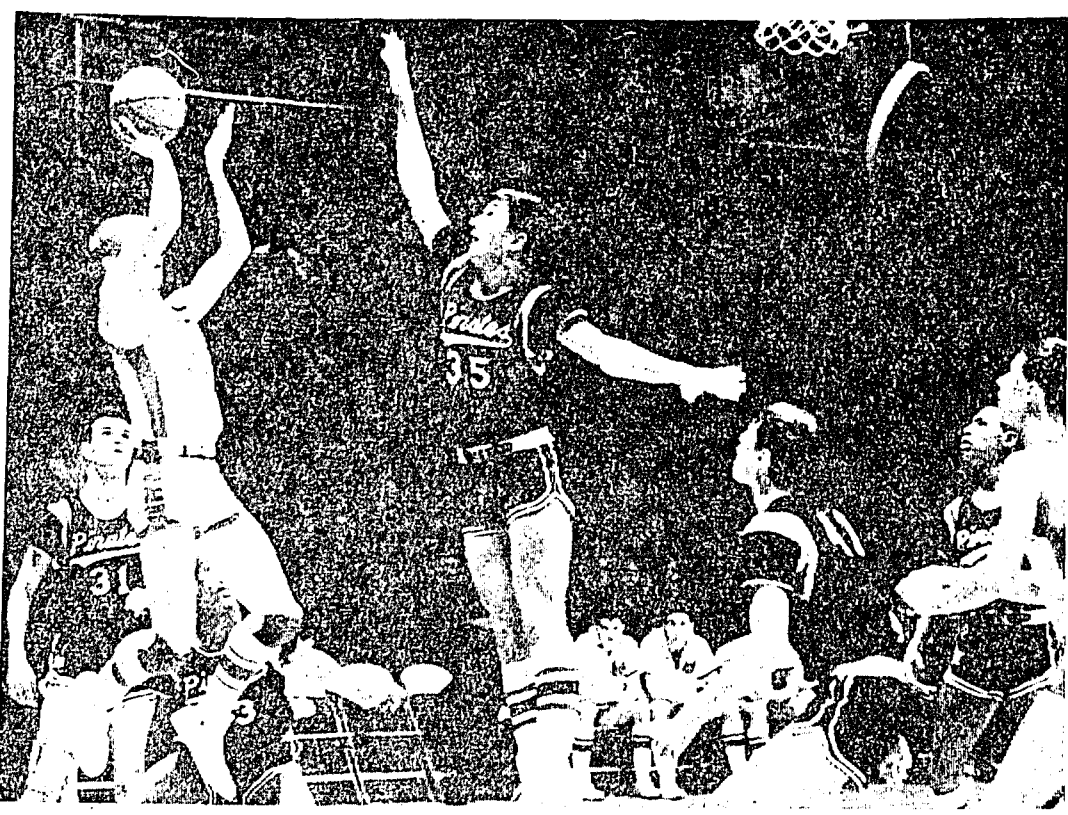

The win boosts Ashland to 13-5 season mark, while Porta drops to 4-12 for the year.

CHICAGO (AP) — With fabulous Lew Alcindor ripping in 35 points and plucking 20 rebounds, top-ranked UCLA ran up its 15th straight victory of the season Saturday night by pounding Loyola of Chicago 82-67 in a Chicago Stadium tripeheader basketball feature.

Sixth-rated Texas Western defeated Brigham Young 55-37 in the opener with a balanced attack led by Phil Harris and David Lattin.

Illinois faced Notre Dame in the nightcap of the show which drew 17,024 fans despite snow-clogged Chicago streets.

The 7-foot-1 Alcindor wheeled in shots and dunked them fantastically to the delight of the crowd.

Smallish Loyola found it was like shooting over Mount Everest as the UCLA sophomore hovered under the basket and got at least six clean blocks on hoop-heading shots.

Alcindor collected 14 points in the first half as the Bruins headed the game Ramblers 36-30 with a floor shooting percentage of 48.4 to 28.3.

In the last half, Alcindor netted nine baskets and three free throws. Loyola never got back into the game despite some fine maneuvering for clear shots by Jim Tillman and Doug Wardlaw, who made 21 points each.

Texas Western was tied 5-5 enroute to its seventh straight victory and 14-2 record and after that led by as many as 14 points. The defending NCAA half-time after Harris scored 14 points.

Brigham Young, the NIT champs who are 10-6, made a battle of it in the opening 7½ minutes of the second half by closing in to 55-53 on a pair of quick baskets by Neil Roberts and Kari Liimo, but could get no closer.

Lattin hit 19 points and Harris 17.

Southern Illinois University raced to a 25-2 lead in the first period here Saturday night and posted its eighth straight win of the season, 77-46, over Steubenville College of Ohio.

Steubenville scored its first field goal of the game with about eight minutes left in the first period.

High scorer for the Salukis was Dick Garrett with 18 points. Allyn Curry was high for Steubenville with 15 points.

Arnie Cops 4-Stroke Lead In LA Tourney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arnie Palmer, the defending champion, dropped five sizeable birdie putts to take a four-stroke lead over Gay Brewer Saturday in the third round of a $100,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer, who won this tourney at the 6,821-yard, par 71 Rancho Park Municipal course in 1966 and 1963, fired a four-under par 67 for a 54-hole total of 201-12.

Under par. The 37-year-old pro put together nines of 35 and 32. Brewer, a personable 11-year-old veteran from Dallas, Tex., also made five birdies, but a pair of bogies gave him a 34-34 — 68 and 205.

Another stroke back at 206 were the second-round leader, Don Massengale of Jacksonville, Tex., who faltered to a three-over-par 74 when he failed all day to make a birdie, and Lou Graham of Nashville, Tenn., who shot a 67.

Current U.S. Open champion Billy Casper and Julius Boros, 46-year-old former Open winner, and three other professionals were ducked out at 208. Casper equaled the day's low round of 66 with five birdies and no bogies in an almost flawless display. Boros had a 69.

With Casper and Boros were young Steven Oppermann, Australian Bruce Crampton and Pete Brown of Los Angeles. Oppermann also shot a 66, while Crampton came in with a 67 and Brown a 69.

Palmer, seeking his first 1967 victory in the third tourney of the winter tour, sank birdie putts of 10, 20, 10, 3 and 10 feet. The Laurel Valley, Pa., pro's only bogey came at No. 5 where he missed a three-foot putt.

The tourney will continue with two games Monday, pitting Arenzville Trinity against Our Saviour's.

Carlinville Hands Spartans 3rd Loss

WHITE HALL — Inability to hit their free throws sent the North Greene Spartans down to their third defeat of the year here Saturday night at the hands of Carlinville, 71-63.

Each team sunk 27 baskets, but Carlinville connected on 17 of 20 free throw attempts, while the Spartans could hit only nine of a like amount of tries, 20.

Down by ten markers at intermission, 40-30, North Greene pulled to within four points on two different occasions in the final half, but the visitors pulled away each time.

The winners meshed 11 of 13 charity stripe attempts in the last period en route to their 85% mark from the line. Carlinville shot a respectable 45% from the floor, but North Greene bettered the Cavaliers' field goal percentage with a 47% performance.

North Greene also out rebounded the Cavaliers, 38-27, in their losing effort.

Rob Crain paced the Spartan scoring attack with 22 points, and Mike Selvo led Carlinville with 21.

The win boosts the Cavaliers' season record to 14-3, and North Greene drops to a 15-3 slate.

Long Distance Service Now 'Near Normal'

Long distance telephone service should be restored to near-normal operation in Jacksonville and surrounding communities early today. J. M. Gaitens, district manager for General Telephone, stated that about 90 percent of all toll facilities will be in operation but some difficulty in completing calls may still be encountered, depending upon the progress made by other areas in repairing damaged facilities.

Local telephone service outages have been heaviest in Greene County with 1242 outages reported through noon Saturday. Morgan County reported 1034, Scott 113. Three General Telephone communities in Sangamon have reported 170. Nearly all existing outages are in rural areas where ice and wind downed several hundred poles and many miles of telephone wires.

Eighteen General Telephone construction crews from various areas in the state are assisting regular company forces in the restoration of service. Most local service outages in Jacksonville and surrounding area will be restored to normal service as soon as possible and all available manpower is being utilized on a full-time basis.

Gaitens added that the co-operation of telephone customers during the emergency calling period was excellent.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Hattie Douglass of Ashland entered Memorial hospital in Springfield Thursday.

Mrs. Ellen Shafer Blakeman of Ashland is a patient at Holy Cross hospital.

Mary Beth Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Olsen, 8 Havendale Court, is a patient at St. John's hospital in Springfield.

Mrs. Orville Taylor of Chandlerville is a patient at Passavant hospital where she was taken after suffering a heart attack Tuesday.

Two Teens Hurt Saturday Night

A Waverly girl, and a Jacksonville teenager were treated and released from Holy Cross hospital Saturday night following a two-car accident about eight o'clock.

A hospital spokesman identified the pair as Cheryl Frye, 15, of 2008 Cedar street, a passenger in a car driven by John C. Ingels of 418 Kentucky, and Bonnie S. Spencer, 18, of Waverly, a passenger in a car operated by Gerald E. Robinson of route two, Franklin.

Ingels was cited for too fast for conditions after his southbound auto skidded out of control and struck the northbound Robinson auto.

A local driver was ticketed about five o'clock following an accident at West College and South West street.

Officers cited Delia J. McGinnis of 351 Grove street with too fast for conditions after her eastbound auto, collided with a General Telephone company vehicle, also eastbound, and driven by Merlin E. Peck of Bloomington.

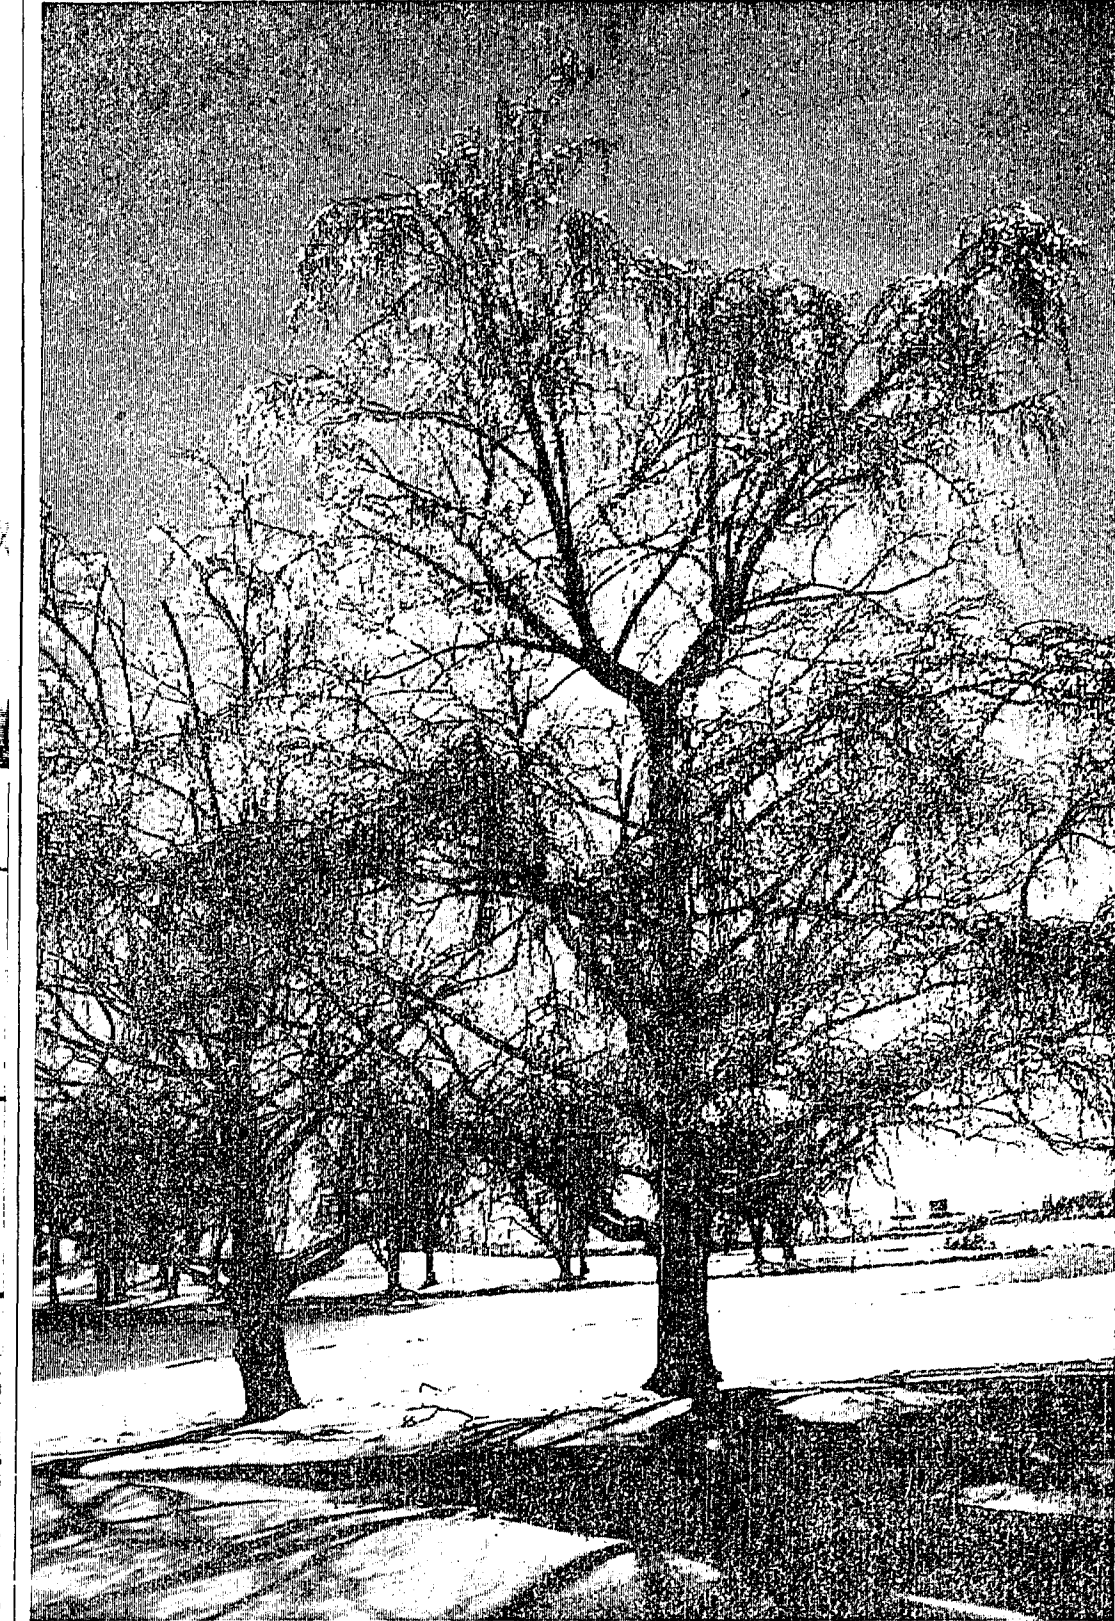

A parked auto in the 200 block of Webster was damaged late Saturday afternoon when it was struck by a northbound car, driven by Karen S. Schneider of route one. The parked auto was owned by Lauris Hazlett of 234 Webster.

Day Care Center Needs Supplies

The Jacksonville pre-school center Board of Directors met last week in the building recently constructed in the south half of the community building for the new housing units on East Walnut.

Representatives of the state division of children and family services met with the board and learned that certain standards of the Child Welfare Act must be met before the center can open and operate. Vital equipment such as individual cots, tables, chairs, are absolute necessities as well as a teacher for every ten children. Volunteer helpers could assist the teacher and if two were available as many as 25 children could be enrolled.

It is quite doubtful, at this time, that the Day Care Center will be funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity. The board plans to make an appeal to the Jacksonville community for donations for specific equipment and to help underwrite a teacher's salary for at least a six month period.

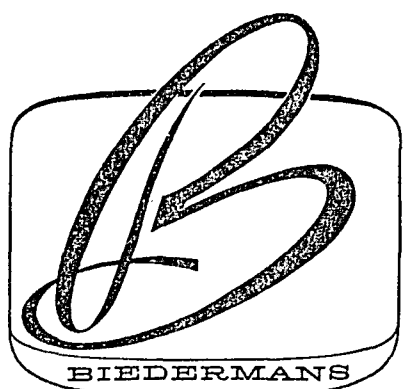

Fees will be charged the parents of enrolled children and will be based on a sliding income scale so that eventually the center will be partially self-sustaining.

Originally designed to handle 3, 4, and 5-year-olds for working mothers, the board of directors voted to enroll only 4 and 5-year-olds.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. Bonnie McCurdy, president; Mrs. Mildred Wilson, secretary; Mrs. Orville Foreman, Mrs. Alma Smith, Mrs. Robert Bradney, Mrs. John Culley, Mrs. Elizabeth Miner, Ivan Garrison, Erwin Audenkamp, and Gilbert Todd. Rev. Dale Robb was a special guest.

The Day Care Center is open for visits by the public. Films concerning the project are available as well as speakers for any interested groups.

For GOOD Coffee or Tea use GRAVEL SPRING Water. Pick-up at Sander Texaco Station, E. Morton or Phone 245-4969.

Mrs. Donald E. Boyer

Donald Boyer And New York Girl Exchange Vows

FRANKLIN — A mid-January ceremony in Buffalo, New York united in marriage Miss Mary Diane Coggins of that city and Donald E. Boyer of Franklin, Illinois. He is the son of Mrs. Sally Boyer and Sherman Boyer of Franklin, Illinois and the bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo G. Coggins of Buffalo.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Kelly at the Holy Family church. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's sister, Miss Margaret Ann Coggins of Buffalo, was maid of honor. Mrs. Thomas McDermott, another sister of the bride, and Mrs. Jerome Dyczkowski, both of Buffalo, were bridesmaids.

Andrew Coggins, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Jerome Dyczkowski, Buffalo; Richard Rawlings of Franklin and Patrick McLaren, Buffalo.

The bride wore a full length white velvet wedding gown with rose applique at the Empire waistline. A white fur head-dress held her veil of illusion. She carried a white muf with phylanthopsis orchids, white carnations and ivy.

The attendants to the bride wore ruby red velvet, floor length gowns also styled with Empire waists and matching bow headresses. Each carried a white muf with red roses, white carnations and ivy.

An evening reception was held at the Island Park in Buffalo after which the couple left for a honeymoon in the West. They are now making their home at 208 Kentucky street in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Boyer is a graduate of Mount Mercy Academy at Buffalo and until her marriage had been employed at the Buffalo and Erie County Library. The groom graduated from Franklin High School in 1960, attended Illinois College in 1960-61 before moving to California and entering military service. He was discharged in 1965 after duty in Vietnam and is now attending Illinois College again.

Attending the wedding ceremony in the East were Mrs. Rex Hazelrigg of Jacksonville, sister of the groom and Dan Norrup of Franklin and also Mrs. James Reynolds, Williamsburg, Va., another sister of the groom.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters

Dee Dee Curtis served as hostess for the regular meeting of Kappa Omega chapter of Beta Sigma Phi on January 9 with 13 members present.

The president announced Carol Watkins will be moving to Atlantic, Iowa and has requested a permit to transfer.

The chapter voted to hold a rummage sale back of the jail February 7 and 8. On February 16, chapter members and their husbands will visit Shakey's Pizza Parlor in Springfield.

Linda Birdsell introduced her guest, Mrs. Wanda Lowe, who spoke on dancing.

On January 23, the chapter met at the home of Mary Sue Farmer with 15 members present. A guest, Arlene Regenwether, was introduced.

Drama was the program presented by Kay Foster and Linda May.

The chapter reviewed the yardstick and refreshments, were served by the hostess.

Alpha Qu, president, conducted a short business session. The thought for the day, I'll Pick More Daisies, was given by Ina Stewart and a discussion followed.

Cards were played and prizes awarded Alpha Qu, Margaret Fitzpatrick and Grace Daventport.

Refreshments of a salad, sandwiches, nutmeats and mints were served from a lovely table holding the sorority flower and flanked with tapers in silver holders.

The dinner meeting was held at Hamiltons where tables were decorated by Esther Ingoglia and Lola Johnson. A patriotic theme was carried out with plaques bearing the inscription, Want-Speed-Fear-Religion. The American Shield and a poster reading, Let Us Strive to Make America a Better Place to Use Our Freedom were incorporated with blue tapers in the decor.

The color of the month, blue for humility, was explained by M. e. Tomlin, basing her thoughts from the Book of Proverbs.

Bernita Dodson, program chairman, presented Alvahlee McCarthy, with her program, Newest Trends in Crystal, Sterling and China, which was a demonstration with four tables set with linen, china, crystal and silver, flowers and tapers. The themes for the settings were: Rhapsody in Blue; Before the Dance; I'll Be Home for Christmas and By the Shore.

Mrs. McCarthy explained why she used the various appointments with Lenox, Spode, Wedgwood and the type silver best

Illinois Farmers Visit Experimental Farms In The Jordan Valley

By WILLIAM W. ALLEN

JERUSALEM, JORDAN — A unique program for training farm youth in this small country at the east end of the Mediterranean caught the fancy of 38 farm men and women from Illinois who are just completing the first week of the Illinois Farm Bureau's around-the-world trade and production mission.

On a 3,000-acre plot in the Jordan river valley, water from wells driven 600 feet deep is being used to reclaim salty soil from what was once the bed of the Dead Sea in this Biblical country.

Once the soil has been reclaimed, the water is used to irrigate the land for an extensive farming operation carried on for the purpose of training 160 Jordanian orphan boys between the ages of 12 and 15.

After three years on this farm, the boys are ready to go to work on one of the farms in Jordan as the people of this ancient kingdom struggle to improve their way of life.

The operation is sponsored by the privately-financed Arab Development Society which is directed by a Jerusalem attorney who discovered water in the Jordan river valley. The attorney, named Moussa Alamy Bey, now devotes full time to the project with funds produced by donors in England and the United States.

Boys at the farm live in barracks-like dormitories under the watchful eyes of one headmaster for each 25 youngsters. They attend classes and work in the livestock and crops projects carried on here. A milking herd of some 90 Holsteins produces milk for use at the farm and for processing in a model dairy set up here to pasteurize and homogenize the output of the dairy herd. In this way, the boys learn dairy production methods and some of them take jobs in the Jordanian dairy industry.

Steers Make Beef
The Holsteins are also used for beef production through the boys' work with Holstein steers. A sizeable poultry laying flock is also in production and 25,000 broilers are produced in the modern broiler batteries located on the farm.

Feeding operations on the farm are carried on by the boys with the guidance of a group of agricultural experts who work here. A modern feeding program is based on the alfalfa which grows all year in this land where it almost never freezes. The alfalfa is supplemented with prepared feeds much like those used in the United States.

In the nine years since the Arab Development Society began its work in the Jordan Valley, miracles have been worked. Not only have hundreds of acres of unproductive soil been turned to productive use, this farm has provided some sound research to upgrade Jordan's primitive agriculture.

Those who visited Jordan as members of the Illinois Agricultural Association's Trade Mission to the Mediterranean mark about the advances made since their visit in January 1966.

King Hussein is a popular man here and apparently he and his government are busy. Arab contrasts sharply with its Arab neighbor to the West, the United Arab Republic of Egypt. The people here, or at least, most of them, appear to be well clothed and well fed. Their homes are neater and cleaner and they appear to be more industrious than the Egyptians.

The Mispaced
But all is not well here. Jordan must bear the burden of 600,000 displaced persons, refugees from the partition of this country into Israel and Jordan following World War II. These people live in refugee camps and work where they can find work since none of them have land to farm. Also, the Bedouins roam the land nearly 100,000 strong. The Bedouins are nomads most of whom get their milk, their meat and their livelihood from a herd of goats.

Yet the signs of progress are on the land. An electrical distribution system is strung across the arid hills where Christ once walked. Modern highways connect the major cities and the schools are being improved. The people are friendly—especially to Americans—and English is taught here along with Arabic.

Indian Creek 4-H
Has Meeting At Arenzville Hall
ARENZVILLE—A meeting of the Arenzville Indian Creek 4-H Club recently took place at the Arenzville Town Hall. Twenty members were present.

Election of officers for the new year was the main item of business. Elected were: president, Jim Kleinschmidt; vice president, Gordon Ginder; secretary, Karen Kleinschmidt; treasurer, Jim Lovkamp; reporter, Roger Kinsey.

Garden seed books were distributed among the members. Selling seeds in the club's only money-making project, and members were encouraged to make every effort toward the success of the project.

Membership cards were given to the members to complete. The meeting was adjourned, and refreshments were served by Jim and Karen Kleinschmidt.

Other members present were Darryl Beard, Jan Carls, Jon Carls, Allen Fischer, Gordon Ginder, Joyce Ginder, Carol Kinsey, Donald Kinsey, Roger Kinsey, Sharon Kinsey, Kevin Kleinschmidt, Jim Lovkamp, Jenni Schone, Joni Schone, Richard Vanderpool, and Ronnie Vanderpool.

LIONS HEAR PROGRAM ON CITY'S HISTORY
An interesting program on the history of Jacksonville was presented at a meeting of the local Lions club held Wednesday evening at Holiday Inn.

The program was presented by Art Seeman and Jack Barwick who were introduced by program chairman Robert Reuck. Through the use of slides, names and places significant in the growth of Jacksonville became real and meaningful.

Weldon McPherson announced that the local club will have two teams entered in the District I-G bowling tournament scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 29 in Hillsboro. Dean Strube explained that plans were being made for the district convention to be held here Sunday, April 2nd.

Across the Fields and Furrows is brought to you daily at 12:25 P.M. on WJDS 1180 on your dial by the people at Elliott State Bank.

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

FARM REVIEW AND OUTLOOK

About this time each year we summarize major developments in farming during the previous year—and speculate about what the coming year may bring.

Looking back, we believe that 1966 was a good year for producers of hogs, soybeans, corn, milk, wheat, and for the owners of beef cow herds. It was not a good year for farmers who fatten cattle for slaughter, nor for farmers in the areas of central and southern Illinois where drought was severe.

Hog prices at terminal markets averaged nearly $24 a hundred pounds in 1966. That was 12 percent higher than the 1965 average, and 46 percent higher than the 10-year 1955-64 average. Farmers have increased hog production about 10 percent, but this brings pork output only halfway back to the level established in 1962 and 1964. During 1967, prices are expected to stay at profitable levels—probably $20 to $23 most of the time.

Soybeans became the nation's biggest cash crop in 1966. Illinois farmers benefited from having a record-breaking crop of 176 million bushels in 1966 and selling a substantial part of it for good prices in 1966. The average yield in 1966 was 27 bushels per acre, 2½ bushels less than the previous year, but prices were higher than those of one year before. Prices may decline in 1967, but average yields should be higher.

Corn growers benefitted from exceptionally high yields in 1965, but prices were below year before levels until last July. State average yields for the 1966 crop were down 15 percent, but this decrease was more than offset by higher prices in the last quarter of 1966. The price trend may be downward in 1967, but our state average yield will be a little higher—if the weather is decent.

Wheat growers benefitted from price improvement in 1966. Prices were higher every month than one year before. They averaged about 40 cents a bushel higher in the months of biggest sales—July, August, September, and October. The 1966 average yield of 41 bushels was a new record high—15 percent more than in 1965, and 18 percent more than the 5-year 1960-64 average. Reserve stocks of wheat are likely to deplete to barely more than "pipeline supplies" by winter 1967. Prices may be erratic. Winter wheat acreage is up 26 percent, so a big crop is possible this year.

For dairymen, the situation improved substantially in 1966. This change began in the fall of 1965. By the last quarter of 1966, prices received by Illinois farmers for milk averaged $4.40 a hundred pounds—75 cents higher than before the rise began, an increase of 30 percent. The price-support level has been raised 23 percent, to $4.00 a hundred pounds for manufacturing milk. This level of support is scheduled to continue through March of 1968.

Producers of feeder cattle had a good year in 1966. They sold most of their calves and yearlings for $24 to $28 a hundred pounds. These prices were 10 to 15 percent higher than a year earlier, and up 20 to 30 percent from two years before. They were the highest prices received since 1958 and 1959. Prices for feeder calves and cattle may average even higher in 1967 than in 1966—because of the expected cyclical contraction of beef output.

Cattle feeding in the United States must be the biggest "Put and Take" game in the world. Since last spring it has been mostly "put, put, put!" Cash losses appear to have been $30 to $50 per head on most cattle sold in recent months. Despite these losses, cattle feeders have great confidence in the future, judging from the way they have been building feedlots and buying replacement cattle.

SCHEDULE HEARING ON DAIRY CO-OPS
CHICAGO (AP) — The Department of Agriculture has scheduled a public hearing Feb. 9 in Fort Wayne, Ind., to consider contentions of two large dairy cooperatives that the Fort Wayne milk marketing order be amended.

Officials of the department's Consumer and Marketing Service said the two associations, representing about 750 milk producers, want to amend the seasonal payment plan. The proposal withholds of 20 cents a hundredweight from the return to farmers for milk delivered in April and 25 cents per hundredweight on May and June deliveries.

Presently about 40 cents a hundredweight is taken out of returns during the three spring months. The amounts deducted are paid back to producers on deliveries in the following fall months of September, October and November.

If the department recommends a change its final decision must be approved by at least two-thirds of the dairy farmers serving the area before taking effect.

At Chicago Stockyards

This photograph and story was furnished to the Journal Courier by Bob Hood, assistant executive director of the Chicago Stock Yards Foundation.

Breckon produces over 300 head of cattle and 200 hogs on his farm. This is enough cattle to supply the average amount of beef to 3,000 people for the next year. Annual beef consumption is over 100 pounds per person in this country.

Some of the sales of these cattle have been 24 Hereford steers weighing 1300 lb. at $25.50 per hundred and 25 Angus steers weighing 1262 at $26.00.

Morgan Soil, Water District Meets Feb. 6

The people who make up the Morgan County Soil and Water Conservation district will have their annual meeting Monday, Feb. 6, with a dinner at Century Methodist church beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Robert D. Walker, extension soil conservation specialist who is well known here.

Dale Leeper of Prentice, chairman of the board, will preside at the business meeting.

LAW on the farm

RETIREMENT LAW MADE MORE ATTRACTIVE

Congress passed a Self-Employed Retirement law in 1962 and amended it in 1966, making it much more attractive to farmers.

This law permits self-employed persons such as farmers to set up retirement plans similar to plans available to corporate employees. A business tax deduction is allowed for contributions to the plan and income earned from contributions is not currently taxed. Before this law was passed, any money set aside by individuals for retirement purposes had to come from money left after taxes, and money earned from investment of these funds was includable in income.

The farmer is required to include all employees who have worked for him more than three years. However, part-time employees working 20 hours or less per week and seasonal employees working less than five months of the year are not included. Employees must be included in the plan on the same basis as the owner. Contributions made for employees are fully deductible as a business expense.

Annual contributions by a farmer to such a retirement plan are limited to $2,500 or 10 percent of earned income, whichever is less. For 1967 the income tax deduction is 50 percent of the amount contributed. Thus, the maximum permissible deduction is $1,250. Beginning Jan. 1, 1968, all of the contribution can be taken as a tax deduction. The 50 percent limitation will be removed.

The old law contained a special definition of earned income that had the effect of reducing farmers' profits to 30 percent for figuring the retirement contribution rate. The 1966 amendment eliminates the 30 percent rule, but the effective date is not clear. The Revenue Service or Congress will undoubtedly clarify this issue in 1967.

The retirement plan can be funded with cash invested by a bank trustee or by directly purchasing life insurance or an annuity. Other methods of funding are investment in stock of a mutual fund, United States Government retirement bonds, or face-amount certificates of investment companies.

Benefits under the plan may not be distributed to a self-employed person until he reaches the age of 59½ years. Employees, however, may be permitted to retire earlier.

This legislation is a step in the right direction toward equalizing the tax treatment of corporate employee-shareholders and self-employed individuals. Even though a full tax deduction will not begin until 1968, farmers should consider establishing a plan in 1967 to build a larger fund at death or retirement. This could be a fine supplement to social security and medicare.

ARENZVILLE LCW GROUP APPOINTS NEW COMMITTEES

ARENZVILLE—The quarterly meeting of the LCW of St. Peter's Lutheran church was attended by 25 members Wednesday evening at the parish hall.

The devotional topic and accompanying Bible study, "Lent for Today," was led by Mrs. Oliver Meyer and Mrs. George Bischoff.

Mrs. Don Meyer presided at the business session. The secretary, Mrs. Dean Nordick, read a letter from Pastor and Mrs. Grossbacher, missionaries in Liberia, Africa, giving news of that mission area.

The Community World Day of Prayer services will be held at St. Peter's church on Feb. 10, the first Friday in Lent. Mrs. Earl Hackman is chairman in charge of arrangements.

Committees appointed for 1967 were announced. Faith and Life chairman, Mrs. Earl Hackman, Mrs. Thomas Partler, Mrs. Wilbur L. Meyer; Christian Action chairman, Mrs. Melvin Dufelmeier, Mrs. Charles Hendrick, Mrs. Robert Brasell, Mrs. Harold Nordick; Outreach and Fellowship chairman, Miss Ada Winkelmann, Mrs. Oliver Meyer, Mrs. Marie Peck; flower committee chairman, Mrs. Francis Staake, Mrs. Bill Kinsey, Mrs. A. L. Weeks.

It was voted to submit Mrs. John Clark's name for consideration for election as a voting delegate to the LCW Triennial convention to be held in August of 1968. Delegates will be selected at the special convention in Chicago on June 30 of this year.

April 6 was the day chosen for cleaning the church and parish hall.

Committee members in charge of arranging for the annual Easter breakfast following sunrise services on Easter Sunday are Mrs. Leland Schnake, Mrs. Edward Hackman, and Mrs. Oliver Meyer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Waldron Paul and Mrs. Lila Niemann.

BRIMFUL and running over

TRACTOR SAFETY HINTS: Going up slopes — Don't risk a backward upset. If you have to go up a really steep slope go up backwards. Never attempt to pull a heavy load up steep slopes.

Stops, starts, turns — Don't do anything too fast or "jerky." Don't lock one brake to make a turn. Lock brake pedals together for simultaneous operation when moving from one work area to another.

Going downhill — This puts extra weight on front wheels and increases the chance of an upset. Avoid heavy loads and keep tractor in gear.

Hitching — Never attempt to pull a load with the drawbar removed. Hitching to axle or seat bracket is an invitation to go over backwards. Keep drawbar in lowest position for heavy loads, such as manure spreaders and two-wheel trailers.

Misuse of equipment — Don't use a tractor to herd cattle, run errands or for horse play.

Speed — Excessive speed is dangerous and causes more tractor upsets than any other factor. Slow down, always keep the tractor in gear, never coast downhill.

Now you should Oil electric motors.

Study up on weed killers.

Lobby. Write your Congressman.

Check electric wiring.

Clean out the farm shop.

File income tax returns.

Remodeling old buildings? Plan carefully. Use your pencil thoroughly. Agricultural engineers suggest that you can seldom justify spending more than half the cost of new construction on remodeling.

In remodeling consider drainage, access to roads, possibility of future expansion, location in relation to the rest of the farmstead.

People certainly are peculiar. They want the front of the bus the back of the church and the middle of the road.

TV Action Club Plans Series On Preparedness

JERSEYVILLE—Jersey county's newest 4-H Club is the TV Action Club for boys and girls nine years old or over, featuring a weekly series of ten thirty-minute programs designed to teach basic emergency preparedness.

This Emergency Preparedness program is being sponsored locally by Community School Unit 100, local Civil Defense and the Cooperative Extension Service.

The series will be seen on KETC-TV, Channel 9, in St. Louis at 5:30 p.m. starting February 3. Information explaining the new 4-H TV Action Club is being distributed to most 4th, 5th and 6th grade classes in Jersey county. Application blanks are to be filled out and sent to KETC-TV and the student will then receive a manual and instructions for viewing the series.

Club members must complete at least five projects, attend the achievement program for members at the local Extension office; exhibit their best project and they will receive ribbons and prize money.

The club does not have to have a leader. Members can complete the project individually. As 4-H members they attend 4-H camp, participate in Share-the-fun and other county-wide activities, such as the 4-H fair.

CLOVER 4-H CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF MRS. BRIM
The Clover 4-H club met Jan. 17 at the home of Mrs. Brim with Diane Wilson as presiding officer.

Officer Scott and Officer Robinson were guests and spoke on bicycle safety.

Several guests were present who will be accepted into membership at the Feb. 7th meeting.

SEC FROTH MAY PLAY NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Southeastern Conference freshmen will be allowed to compete in varsity sports this spring under a rule adopted Friday by school presidents.

Wool Payment Applications Due Tuesday

Growers are being urged to file their applications for 1966 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act by Tuesday. The applications cover marketings of wool, lambs, and mohair during the calendar year 1966 for which all sales details were completed not later than Dec. 31.

Leslie E. Martin, chairman, Morgan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, explains that the payments on wool and mohair sold during 1966 represent the amounts necessary to bring the national average prices received by growers up to the previously announced incentive levels under the wool legislation.

The levels for 1966 are 65¢ a pound for short wool and 75¢ a pound for mohair; the payment for pulled wool will be at a level comparable to that for short wool.

Since payments under the program are based on the national average prices for marketings during the entire year, it is important that sales reports be as complete as possible before the average price determinations are made. That is why ASCS is stressing application filings by Jan. 31.

Payments for the 1966 marketing year will begin about April.

Peppy Peppers 4-H Club Has January Meeting

Marilyn Spencer was elected president of the Peppy Peppers 4-H club at an organizational meeting held Jan. 21 in the South Jacksonville Village Hall.

Other officers are Kristie Nestler, vice president; Debra Cole, secretary; Janet Quigg, treasurer; Gale Hewitt, reporter; Nancy Patterson, program chairman; Beverly Hewitt and Jennie Leonard, recreation chairmen; Judy Brubaker and Sherry Hardin, songleaders; Wina Hewitt and Patty Crawford, safety chairmen; Candy Crawford and Diane Cole, health chairmen; Janet Patterson and Ann Foot, hospitality chairmen.

During the business session projects for the coming year were chosen and plans for a bake sale were discussed.

Refreshments were served by the leaders.

The next meeting will be Saturday, Feb. 4th.

AMVET AUXILIARY SENDS VALENTINES TO SERVICEMEN

The Amvets Auxiliary at a meeting Jan. 24 at the Amvets Club made plans to send Valentines with other articles to servicemen in Vietnam. Lucy Stillwell, chairman, asked that members who can help be at the club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 31st.

Martha Upchurch, president, conducted the meeting. Lucy Stillwell, sgt.-at-arms, led the pledge to the flag and reading of the preamble. Opening prayer was offered by Hazel Siegfried, chaplain.

Five members renewed memberships, Mildred Turner, Marge Deatherage, Marie Neal, Ruby Black and Alice Smith. Urmadine White was welcomed as a new member. Edna DeSollar was reported in the hospital after an auto accident.

Irene Sanders, secretary, and Esta Lee Beales, acting treasurer, gave their reports. President Upchurch reported on the Third Division meeting held Jan. 15 in North Pekin. The next division meeting will be March 19 in Pekin.

The Veterans Hospital party will be held Wednesday, Feb. 1st. Volunteers are needed. Those wishing to help are asked to call Martha Upchurch.

The "Non Birthday" party for Veterans of the State Hospital sponsored by the Third Division, will be held April 16.

The next meeting will be Feb. 14.

Signup For 1967 Feed Grain Program Begins Monday, Ends Mar. 3

Major changes in the 1967 Feed Grain program deal with price support payments, the increased loan rate, and diversion provisions that apply to small farms, reports Duane E. Erickson, University of Illinois extension economist in farm management.

The program encourages U.S. farmers to divert 15 to 18 million acres as compared with 30 million acres of corn and grain sorghum land diverted in 1966.

Erickson says that the 1967 price-support loan for corn is increased from $1 to $1.05 per bushel, national average. The price support payment remains 30 cents per bushel on the projected yield of acres planted up to 50 percent of the base acreage. For Illinois, price support loans for corn will range from about $1.04 to $1.09 per bushel.

To qualify for price support payments and loans, a farmer must divert 20 percent of his corn base. No diversion payment is made for diversion of farms larger than 25 acres (feed grain base).

On farms with effective feed grain bases of 25 acres or less which are determined eligible for program benefits, the acreage diverted can exceed 20 percent of the base. The rate of payment is 20 percent of the total county support rate times the farm's projected yield for one-fifth of the base. For additional diversion the payment will be 50 percent of the total county support rates times the farm's projected yield.

Yields have been calculated on an up-to-date basis as provided in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965. For corn the national average projected yield will be 75 bushels as compared to 72 bushels projected for 1966.

The average projected corn yield for Illinois is 94.5 bushels an acre and ranges from 55 to 115 bushels.

Conserving base and acreage substitution features will continue.

The second annual Illinois Spring Barrow show, set for Feb. 11 at the state fairgrounds, Springfield, features classes for both crossbred and purebred hogs. New this year is a class for truckloads of crossbred hogs.

The Illinois Pork Producers' association is the major show sponsor.

Harold Council, chairman of the show's executive committee, says the show will feature separate classes for two weights of barrows shown by commercial and purebred producers. The lightweight class will include barrows weighing between 190 and 205 pounds; the heavyweight class includes hogs from 206 to 220 pounds.

A purebred class and a crossbred class for truckloads of five hogs and a carcass class, with all breeds and crossbreds competing, complete the show.

Entry fees will be $2.50 per single barrow entry, $5 per carcass barrow entry, and $5 per truckload entry. All hogs will be weighed and tattooed between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 10. The show will start at 9 a.m. Friday.

The Superior Pork Producers Banquet is scheduled at the Heritage House restaurant, south of Springfield on U.S. (city) 66, at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Elmer Frazee, Diverson, is taking reservations for the banquet.

Remember Gold Certificates?

You're getting along if you can remember a gold certificate, when you could trade in a piece of paper for gold.

You have seen many sunrises and sunsets. Much water has run downhill.

It was in 1933 when Franklin Delano Roosevelt decided gold was too precious for the common folks to have truck with, that it must be collected and placed under the all-knowing eye of the Great White Father in Washington City.

Well, we know how that turned out. Now foreigners own Fort Knox, but we furnish the guards. Still, FDR was as sound on the gold question as he was on anything else that he finally came to a conclusion about.

A week ago yesterday, one of the nicest days any mortal ever had, Art Harris and I decided to take a ride in the glorious sunshine. First of all, we went to Virginia, which was a most happy place that day because the basketball boys had won a big game by nosing out Chandlerville.

All was happy then, nobody knew that Triopia was going to take them to the cleaners Saturday night.

We had a first rate lunch at the Rossi restaurant, and then headed for Arenzville, where we took refuge and allayed our thirst at Harold Nobis' oasis.

Better Than Arenzville

Now, of course, you can go far and wide and never find such a nice stopping point as Arenzville.

In the conversation I observed that Herman Engelbach was one of the most interesting men I ever knew. He was, at the first time I saw him, cashier of the First National bank of Arenzville, a Dutchman, a Republican party leader, and a guy who liked people.

But, now and then, he would perplex tradespeople and bartenders. When he spent more money than he had intended, he'd reach into his coat pocket and pull out a sheet of wonderfully printed "gold certificates," labelled $10, $20, or $100. The lettering said that the bill was worth "face value, in gold, upon presentation at the First National Bank of Arenzville."

And it was.

The bank began with the Engelbach family and is still handled by them and their in-laws.

What To Do? Now Herman, whenever he felt he needed a little extra cash, would pull out this sheet, sign one bill, take a straight razor and a six-inch ruler out of his pocket, whittle off the bill, and hand it over.

Now to the clerk or bartender who never saw Herman before, didn't know anything about him, this procedure shook him up more than somewhat. He didn't know what to do, but on the basis of his experience it didn't seem right to him that a man could go around manufacturing money whenever he got the notion.

But his boss, or some older person in the crowd, would always tell the bewildered man that everything was O.K.

bank of Jacksonville and signed by Andy Mellon, the financial genius who served as Secretary of the Treasury under Harding and Coolidge up until the first two years of Hoover, when the world-wide depression that followed World War I sat so hard on America that Andy decided to take to the timber, and was thus kicked upstairs to be the ambassador to the Court of St. James.

The second bill was a gold certificate issued by the First National bank of Arenzville, signed by Fred Engelbach, president, and H. Engelbach, cashier.

The lower one was a $20 gold bill issued by George Engelbach, president, and H. Engelbach, cashier.

Now this array of proof convinced Art, so he took the picture shown above, and we again stepped out into the glorious day, and headed towards the setting sun, to Mercedesia, Morgan county's port to the waters of the world.

DOMESTIC

January, 1867

Mrs. Stanton has delivered an address to the State Legislature in favor of extending the right of suffrage to women and negroes as well as to white men. The same subject is before the Parliament in England, seconded by J. S. Mill and his party, and probably will become a law there before it does here, since the absurdities from a restriction of the suffrage is more apparent in England than here.

The railroad corporations of this city are moving to obtain a renewal of the law bill under the provisions of which they have sheltered themselves in stealing seven-eighths of every extra cent they charge for their fare. Why will not Congress act upon our suggestion, and take the excess, which amounts to about $1,500,000, for the Government? The people would not object to its going to the government, though they, of course, are averse to its swelling the already excessive extortions of these scoundrel corporations.

The use of the word "rink" for a skating-ground is on the increase. Why is it a better word than pond? Pond, as we use it, is purely American; in England a pond means a horse-pond or a pool. When American ice was first sent to London and advertised as from Rockland pond, no one would use it, supposing it came from some muddy pool; when it was changed to Rockland Lake, it instantly met with a large sale.

A lake with us is a body of water large enough to be of some importance; while the lakes of England are hardly as large as many of our ponds. Rinks ought perhaps to be employed only to designate an artificially constructed place for skating. In this way it may become a legitimate addition to the language instead of a redundancy.

The Winter Festival

Seventy-five years ago today Jacksonville and Morgan county was in a sea of mud. Nothing was moving except the railroad trains "and a few fools floundering on terra firma without the firm."

But it was a good time to sit around and talk about the wonderful winter festival the town had enjoyed the week before, when there were five inches of snow on the ground and at least 300 sleds, many of them gaily decorated, joined in the long parade.

The day had been perfect, with bright sunshine, the sunshine that presaged the warmer days that would take the snow away faster than it had descended.

A Glorious Day
A JOURNAL reporter wrote: "Alongside the roads and the streets the gleams of the sun made the snow sparkle and glint like a sea of crystal. Hundreds came in from the country to either take part in the parade or to witness the brilliant procession of the afternoon. By 12 o'clock noon the city was full of people. There has been nothing like it before in Jacksonville, with hundreds of elegant turnouts in every street."

"By 1:30 the air was full of the jingling melody of clear toned bells and the clanging discord of horns, kazoes and numerous other fiendish noise creators."

Hart Massey, the great horse breeder and trainer who lived southwest of town, was the marshal of the day. He had as his assistants Dr. Charles Scott, the sports veterinarian, and E. W. Johnson, a lively merchant.

Massey had set the time of the parade at 2:30 p.m., but "before 2 o'clock the square was filled with sleighs lined up five to seven abreast. The elegant gentleman driving his span of standard bred trotters formed in line behind the farmer in his wagon-box on a bob-sled, or alongside the outfit of the merchant manned by grotesquely costumed masqueraders."

At the appointed hour Mr. Massey and lady, in a graceful cutter drawn by his magnificent team of bays, signalled the start and headed down East State street. Right behind him, in Cherry's big band wagon, drawn by four powerful steeds, came the Juvenile Band, 20 strong, with Lieut. W. D. Dalton acting as whip. Both he and Director Prof. Jeffries appeared in brand new silk tides in honor of the occasion."

Just before the procession started "Major" Dalton, as he was commonly called although really he had been a lieutenant for only six weeks before he was discharged in 1865, gave the band a pep talk. This is what he said:

"Young gentlemen, the occasion which calls us out today is one of no ordinary occurrence. For five weary years our Mother Earth in this part of the country has bared her bosom to the heat of summer and the chilly blasts of winter without once being adorned as she is to day, with the mantle of purity and innocence; a mantle such as the blushing bride loves to assume when her vows are pledged; such as is placed by fond mothers on their prattling darlings when they fondly show them to their friends and the admiring public; such as is attributed to cherubs and seraphs when they soar through invisible space and draw near earth on errands of mercy. I earnestly hope your actions will be such as befit the occasion, and that you will do your best. I have arrayed myself, as you see, in a citizen's dress, with a silk stovepipe hat, which I hope will be found suitably becoming and lend to our tout ensemble a due amount of respect and veneration. Now, boys, prepare to blow."

"And the boys blew."

New Berlin, Chapin

Directly behind the band came a double sleigh drawn by a splendid team of bays driven by Frank Huffaker of New Berlin. Huffaker had a reputation then, and kept it to his death, as one of the finest judges and trainers of horses in the land. He also had the best set of "matched sleigh bells," with bells on the bridles of his team, on their hames, and around the belly bands.

Next in line was Arthur French of Chapin, with his finely bred sorrel pacer and single cutter. At the time he was considered by many mamas as the best catch in the county, because he was handsome, had considerable farm land, horses, cattle and cash, and had just organized the Chapin State Bank.

Pick Up Speed
All of this was done at a walk, but around Church street Massey began letting out his bays and they were going at a full trot when they hit the School for the Deaf. Quite a few people dropped out of the parade before then. And more of them dropped out as the procession came up West State street "all in a lather," to disband at the square.

Eighteen business houses had entries in the parade. The most elaborate of these was "Fred C. Coe's display, with the horse, driver, sleigh and all encased in white cotton batting."

Another interesting business entry was "Ice Pete" Lorton sitting on an immense piece of ice. In later days there was considerable disagreement among older folks just how big it was. Some said Pete had just frozen together two 300 pound cakes of ice, and others insisted there were four cakes.

A great many of the merry-makers were masked. One sleigh especially attracted the attention of the JOURNAL reporters:

"One of the large sleds contained a party of young ladies, whose identity was concealed by the sheet and pillow case costumes which all wore. It was a ghostly array."

Right after it came a sleigh carrying the Wizard Oil band, which belonged to the medicine show then appearing at Degen's hall.

Fritz's Outfit
Several individuals attracted considerable attention. One of them was Fritz Batz, "popular East State street restaurateur and saloonist," in a single cutter. He was dressed as a cavalier; hip-hugging black leather boots such as the Three Musketeers wore, tight bright yellow pants, burgundy great coat, purple throat cloth, big black felt hat decorated with an ostrich feather dyed purple.

This would be indeed something to see.

The individual who got the most applause along the line was Bill Mallory, a very popular Negro musician and entertainer. He rode in a most modest, low level sled pulled by a white mule.

As soon as the parade was over the "blooms" arranged some speed trials, with enough side money going to make things interesting.

Single horse sleighs "repaired" to West College avenue and teams competed on West State, from Church to Park.

The JOURNAL "quill driver" ended his piece this way:

"Art French distanced all the single cutters with his finely bred pacer, while Jack Warren's team showed their heels to everything in that class."

"And the great carnival was over by five o'clock."

Something To See
Wouldn't all of it been wonderful to see? Think of it, 300 rigs! What size of crowd would it draw today? The Fourth of July horse-drawn circus parade in Milwaukee, put on by the Chamber of Commerce and Joe Schlitz, is absolutely bulging the town out of its seams, and may have to be discontinued just because it attracts so many people.

Of course I know, and you know, and everybody else knows, that we are living in the greatest age of mankind, especially since TV was developed and space shots started. But I'd rather see a replay of the Winter Festival Parade of 1892.

Twenty-two persons were recently arrested in Paris, for listening to the reading of a pamphlet in the billiard-room of the Cafe Matheiu, on the Boulevard St. Michel, which was written and published in England by M. Felix Pyat. The pamphlet justified assassination, quoting the instance of Booth in support of his argument. The persons arrested belonged to a society called the Solidaires, who were mutually pledged never to receive any sacrament from the church. The society only meets on the occasion of the death of any one of the members, and then only to prevent any religious services being performed over the body.

There is a society in France called "Society for the Encouragement of Aerial Locomotion by the Use of Materials Heavier than the Air." They depend upon gravity for their motive power, taking example from the birds, who fly by falling.

From the Beardstown Central Illinoisian:

The weather continues cold, in this part of the world. But notwithstanding farmers are bringing in a large amount of grain, and buyers are busy filling up their warehouses. There will be a large quantity of grain shipped from this city in the spring.

The Farmers' Mills of Sieber & Bro. are now manufacturing a very fine article of flour, also the best article of corn meal, which they are selling at the very lowest figures.

The young people are having a good time for the past week or so at sleigh riding, this being very fine weather for such desirable amusement.

From the Carrollton Gazette:
It is a common saying among our citizens that they never saw snow disappear so rapidly as on Thursday.

For the past two weeks, our young folks have had fine times, sleigh riding, but on Thursday last the fun was spoiled by the rays of Sol coming down on the snow rather direct. The horses will enjoy the recess.

Mr. Thomas Mann, of this place, town constable, and who also has an appointment of "Special Marshal," while in Jerseyville a few days since, was struck by a two-pound scale weight thrown by some concealed person, unknown to him, which made quite a hole in his head, but he is again on duty.

The Chicago Tribune describes St. Louis as "a collection of houses on the west bank of the Mississippi, opposite Illinois."

HUMORS of the day

January, 1867

A friend of ours was around hunting a house for rent, and called to see a family who were preparing to vacate a cozy dwelling. As the door stood open, he walked in without knocking, and his eyes straightway lighted on the dame of the household, who was making frantic lunges with a broomstick at some object under the bed.

"Good morning, madam, ah, I see you have a troublesome cat under the bed."

"Troublesome cat? No, sir! It's that sneaking husband of mine; and I'll have him out, or break every bone in his body!"

"Now, Susy, you may rave and pound, and pound and rave, but I'll be dogged if I'll come out from under this bed while I've got the spirit of a man about me!"

Times are so hard that it is suggested that pantalons may as well be made without pockets."

Karen Hileman Of Pittsfield Is Iowa Man's Bride

PITTSFIELD — Miss Karen Kay Hileman of Pittsfield and Robert C. Johnson of Keokuk, Iowa were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, January twenty-second, at the local First Baptist church.

The Reverend E. D. Clagg performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Helen Apps was soloist for the prelude.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Hileman of Pittsfield and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson of Mesquite, Texas.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white satin with lace applique. A tiara of pearls held her veil of illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Miss Cassie Bergman was maid of honor and wore floor length olive green with a brocade bodice. A matching headpiece completed her costume. Miss Sandra Griffith was bridesmaid and was dressed identical to the honor attendant. Each carried a bouquet of pompons and yellow roses.

Karen Sue Hileman was flowergirl and Tommy Bitler, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Dale Hastings was best man and Terry Reel seated guests. The mother of the bride wore a royal blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

At the reception, held at the community center, the following assisted, Mrs. Marilyn Hileman, Mrs. Joan Hileman, Mrs. Sue Martin, Miss Debbie Christianer, Miss Judy Howell, Miss

Catholic Colleges Adopt New Patterns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New patterns in Roman Catholic higher education continue to develop around the country.

At the University of Detroit, a Catholic institution controlled exclusively by the Jesuit order since 1877, plans have been announced to include laymen on its board of trustees.

The Very Rev. Malcolm Carron, university president, said Wednesday the change would be made to "broaden the base of the policy decisions of the university."

Father Carron said, however, that the University of Detroit had no plans to turn control of the university over to secular officials, as some Catholic colleges have.

In New York, the Rev. Leo McLaughlin, president of Fordham University, told a 126th-anniversary dinner that Fordham will not follow the example of some Roman Catholic schools and become nonsectarian.

"Putting it very bluntly," Father McLaughlin said, "one reason that changes are being made in the structure of the boards of trustees (of some Catholic universities) is money."

"In the financial order, many Catholic institutions have already passed the point of no return (and) these colleges cannot continue to exist without state aid," he said.

St. Mary's College of St. Mary's, Kan., since 1911 the seminary of the Roman Catholic St. Louis, Mo., University, will become the university's school of divinity when it is re-established on the St. Louis campus this fall.

The reorganization was conceived under directives of the Second Vatican Council and is designed to make the school of divinity a center of ecumenism.

The Rev. Robert J. Jenle, S.J., academic vice president of St. Louis University, said the new school will be "not only a teaching institution, but a center of theological scholarship that will set a Catholic school of divinity alongside older, famous Protestant university schools like Harvard and Chicago."

St. Mary's College started in 1848 as an Indian school. The college was closed in 1931 because of a declining student body. The Jesuit order, which ran the school, moved its seminary from St. Louis University to St. Mary's, Kan.

Father Henle said students will be admitted to the seminary without regard to sex, religion or ecclesiastical state.

Each participating group of religious order will maintain its own residence house, he added.

Webster College, a Catholic women's institution in Webster Groves, Mo., recently announced it would become secular.

Notre Dame University has announced that it was giving laymen a voice on its board of trustees, now composed of priests.

your opponents will shift suits, but this West did not.

Now you are in your own hand and if you are only a good player you will lead a club to dummy's ace and return the nine spot. West will win with the king and eventually the combination of four clubs and four spades in the East hand will put you one down.

When Sidney Lazard of New Orleans held the South hand he gave himself that one little extra chance. He played the nine of clubs from dummy instead of the ace. From then on everything was duck soup. When he played dummy's ace of clubs later on he picked up West's king. Then all he had to do was to draw as many trumps as he could and tell East that he could have his high trump anytime he wanted it.

At this point we plan to forestall a lot of correspondence by pointing out that Lazard could win the first heart, take a diamond finesse and lead out dummy's ace of diamonds for a heart discard whether or not East ruffed in.

That play would have been a winner but it was an extra losing chance. It would cost the contract if East held the king of diamonds and would only gain one extra trick if it worked.

On the other hand the nine of clubs play stood to gain against lots of card combinations and could only lose in the event of a 5-1 club break.

Ceremonies Today At Biedermans Mark Entry To Jacksonville

Biedermans, one of the Midwest's largest retail homefurnishers, will have the grand opening of their new store at 836 West Morton Avenue, across from the Lincoln Square Shopping Center, this afternoon, according to Wendall C. Evans, president of Biederman National Stores, Inc.

Over a thousand dollars in merchandise will be given away during a "What's the Price?" contest for the grand opening celebration.

All one has to do to win is to guess the total retail selling price of various articles displayed in the store. Free gifts will be given to all visitors at the opening festivities. No purchase is necessary.

"We have had our eye on the Jacksonville area for some time," Ivan Silberman, vice president and sales manager of Biedermans, said, "and were extremely pleased after many months of diligent searching to have found this excellent location in an area which is close to the homemakers and will become a vital part of the growth of the community."

"We are proud to become a permanent part of this aggressive city," he continued, "and we have confidence in Jacksonville's growth. We are pleased to be of service to the people of Jacksonville and surrounding communities and hope to make their shopping as convenient and pleasant as possible. Our goal is to offer the same high standards of quality, dependability and service at this new store as have made Biedermans famous for over 80 years."

Open every night, 6 days a week with store hours on Sunday, the new store will carry a complete line of merchandise by leading manufacturers. Included are living rooms, dining rooms and bedroom suites in such styles as traditional, early American, modern and French or Italian provincial plus an extensive array of carpet textures and colors. A large variety of famous name appliances is also available.

Following the time-tested principle of "one stop shopping for side-by-side comparisons," Biedermans is one of the few stores where one can find all departments displaying a complete selection of well-known brands.

Such nationally known products as Magic Chef, Westinghouse, Simmons, Zenith, General Electric, Frigidaire, Chromcraft, Lane, Mohawk and dozens more of the nation's top brands of furniture, bedding, appliances and floor covering are available. There is also the type of savings which has made Biedermans a household word throughout the Midwest.

Designed by Rathert and Roth of St. Louis, Biedermans Jacksonville will be the thirty-third Biedermans store in the Midwest. The contractor was Bunce Building Corporation, also of St. Louis. Personnel for the store are from the Jacksonville area.

"The finest furniture, appliances and floor covering store in the area, Biedermans has all the conveniences for pleasant, relaxed shopping," P. W. Schaefer, vice president, said.

"The large and spacious store has wall-to-wall carpeting, climate controls, acoustical ceiling and a special combination of incandescent and fluorescent lighting to present the various shades and textures of upholstery fabrics, carpeting and wood hues as they would appear in natural light," he said.

Of special interest is the modern carpet display which uses indirect lighting to show the carpeting as it would appear in one's home.

"In the tradition of Biedermans' policy of promotion without the ranks," Mr. Evans said, "we are happy to announce the appointment of Simon Thrower as manager of the new Jacksonville store."

Mr. Thrower began working for Biedermans as a salesman in St. Louis two years ago. He soon moved up to assistant manager at the Biederman's store in Springfield, Illinois, as part of the company's executive training program.

As manager, Mr. Thrower is available to give Jacksonville area homemakers valuable assistance in selecting the home furnishings they need for pleasant, comfortable living.

Both Simon and his wife Emma L. Thrower "can't wait" to get settled in their new home at 20 Havendale Avenue in Jacksonville. Their children, Cathy, 16; Becky, 15; Sunny, 12 and Robert 6 are attending Jacksonville public schools.

Biedermans had its beginning in 1886 in St. Louis and spread rapidly throughout the Midwest, continuing to bring the largest selection of home furnishings to the people in this area. Nearby stores are in Alton, Decatur, Quincy, Litchfield and Springfield, Illinois.

Biederman National Stores, Inc. now operate 79 furniture stores in the Midwestern and Southeastern United States.

Routt Second Half Tumbles ISD, 53-36

Tigers Fall Ice-Cold In Second Half

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

Routt threw in 20 of the final 22 points in the game while ISD scored only two points in the final 11 minutes as the Rockets surged to a 53-36 PMSC Conference victory over the Tigers, in a mistake-filled game played at the IC gymnasium Friday evening.

With ISD falling ice-cold (12%) in the second half, Routt broke a halftime deadlock and a 34-34 court midway through the third period with a string of 16 straight points to bust open what had been a tight contest between the two Jacksonville schools.

With the game tied at 34-34 on a bucket by ISD's Ron Penn with 3:06 to play in the third, Dan Welsh, John Hall and Dick Zeller shoved the Rockets to a 41-34 third period final with a string of seven straight points. Routt then hit the first nine points of the final chapter, with Don Fernandes getting four, Welsh and Ken McGinnis two and Dave Ryan one, to boost the difference to 16 points, 50-34, with 2:40 to play.

Terry Storey's bucket with 2:21 to play accounted for the only ISD points in the final 11 minutes of the game.

Tight First Half
The game was tied three times in the first half, and the lead changed hands three times. After Routt broke to a 5-0 lead, Storey led an ISD comeback that knotted the game at 7, 8 and 10. Routt's Chuck McNeely, who had 12 of his 14 points in the first half, took over

Southern Surges From 15 Behind To Win By 58-55

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Top-rated Southern Illinois, down by as much as 15 points in the first half, battled back behind Ralph Johnson Friday night to edge a tough Abilene Christian team 58-55 and for its seventh straight victory.

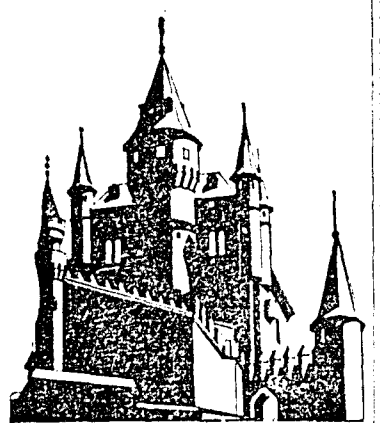

Southern was down 31-21 at halftime as the hot-shooting Texans tried for an upset. The Wildcats had a 26-11 lead with 4:21 left in the first half for their biggest margin.

The Salukis finally tied it up 35-35 with about one minute gone in the second half on a short jumper by Chuck Benson. Johnson put SIU ahead to stay 50-49 with 3:53 left with a layup after stealing the ball at mid-court and the Salukis moved it to 57-51.

Johnson led Southern, ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press Small-College Poll, with 14 points, 12 coming in the second half.

The Salukis are now 12-2 and Abilene is 7-8.

in the second half to shove Routt to a 25-19 edge, before reserve Jesse Joyner hit six points in the final two minutes to lift ISD to a 27-27 deadlock.

ISD led briefly at the start of the second half on a free throw by Gary Shaw, and the game was tied at 29 and 34 before Routt broke away to stay.

For the game Routt hit a respectable 36%, and held a decisive 45-28 edge on the boards. With both teams pressing, 51 turnovers were committed, 29 by the winners.

The win, Routt's second straight, lifts the Rockets to 3-9 overall and 1-3 in PMSC play. ISD falls to 3-12 and 1-2.

Redbirds Streak To 86-60 Margin Over Meredosia

VIRGINIA — The Virginia Redbirds spurred to a 23-point halftime lead and went on to take an easy 86-60 victory over Meredosia in a PMSC Conference game here Friday night.

The Indians led in the early stages, and were up by three points midway through the opening quarter before Virginia took charge.

Sophomore reserve Greg Reiterman came off the bench late in the first period to spark the Redbird attack, and wound up with high-point honors for the evening with 28. Six and Jay Surratt paced 'Dosh with 10 markers each.

The contest was constantly interrupted by whistle-blowing as a total of 60 infractions were called. The winners earned only 25 of a whopping 47 free toss attempts, while Meredosia missed only 11 of 35 charity stripe throws. 'Dosh was outgunned from the floor by 30-18.

Virginia emptied its bench with a substantial lead in the third frame, and sophomores played much of the second half. The Redbirds moved up to a 13-4 season mark with the win, while 'Dosh slipped to a 3-12 state.

Ring Magazine Refuses To Give Award To Clay

NEW YORK (AP) — For the second time since it started making an annual award, Ring Magazine has passed up naming a Fighter of the Year because it frowned on some of the non-boxing activities of heavyweight champion Cassius Clay.

The boxing monthly said that strictly on the basis of his ring achievements, which included five title defenses during the year, Clay deserved the Fighter of the Year citation for 1966.

"The Fighter of the Year must be recognized as an example to the growing American boy," the magazine said, adding that Clay did not qualify this year. It pointed out that Ring awarded Clay the citation in 1963.

Since 1963, Ring said, Clay has allied himself with the Black Muslims, "who avowedly are not friendly toward the United States of America," said Ring; has protested his draft into the Army, and "has been guilty of utterances which have not redounded to the credit of boxing."

Ring said that it passed up the 1933 award, which it said should have gone to heavyweight champion Primo Carnera of Italy, because of the calibre of people handling Carnera's business.

After disqualifying Clay, Ring named the following as the 1966 standouts: 1, light heavyweight champion Dick Tiger, Nigeria; 2, middleweight champion Emil Griffith, New York; 3, light-weight champion Carlos Ortiz, New York; 4, welterweight champion Curtis Cokes, Dallas, and 5, featherweight champion Vicente Saldivar.

The Fighter of the Year statement was made in Ring's annual issue of ratings, dated March and now on sale.

JHS Meet Off

Storm Plays Havoc With Prep Action

The violent winter storm that partially paralyzed the Jacksonville area and the Midwest Thursday and Friday played havoc with the high school basketball schedule for the weekend.

Several local and area games, including the Jacksonville High four-team tournament slated for Friday and Saturday evenings, were either canceled or postponed.

The JHS meet was canceled as such, because Crane Tech and Wells of Chicago were unable to get out of the city Friday. Two games were scheduled for Friday and two more Saturday.

Hannibal and JHS, the other two teams entered in the meet, rescheduled a regular meeting between the two clubs for Saturday night at the JHS Bowl. A junior varsity game was also scheduled for Saturday night.

Due to scheduling problems, the tournament will not be held at all this year.

Among other games halted by the storm were:
Triopia at Porta, postponed and rescheduled for Feb. 11
Ashland at Greenville, postponed and reset for Jan. 31
Bluffs at Chandlerville, postponed and rescheduled for Feb. 13
Waverly at Springfield St. James, postponed
Viridan at Franklin, postponed
Camp Point at Pittsfield, postponed
Pleasant Plains at Rochester, postponed
Perry at East Pike, postponed, rescheduled for Feb. 8

The storm also put a crimp in telephone communications in the area, and prevented the reporting of most of the games played in the area.

The only scores available were Virginia 86, Meredosia 60; Southwestern 111, Greenfield 74; and Carrollton 69, Pleasant Hill 58.

The hiring of the 44-year-old Fears, who has been offensive coach of the Atlanta Falcons for the past season, was announced by John W. Mecom Jr., majority stockholder of the Saints.

Mecom also said that Larry Karl, presently assistant general manager of the Dallas Cowboys, would join the Saints' organization as assistant to the executive committee.

Mecom explained that the executive committee would consist of himself, New Orleans lawyer Eads Pointevent and Bedford Wynn of Dallas, and would function for the time being as the general manager of the club.

Fears, who played at Santa Clara and UCLA, spent nine seasons of professional football as an end for the Los Angeles Rams. He still holds the record of 18 pass receptions in a single game.

Fears was an All-Pro selection in 1948, '49 and '50. His playing career ended after the 1956 season. He joined the Green Bay Packers staff as an assistant coach in 1959. He went to the Rams coaching staff for the 1960 and '61 campaigns, then returned to the Packers until he joined the fledgling Atlanta club last year.

Hospital Notes

Wayne Stauffer of Roodhouse, a G.M. and O. brakeman, is a patient at Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis.

Mrs. Etta Newingham of Roodhouse became a patient at Holy Cross hospital Sunday.

Russell Paul Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Blackburn of Roodhouse, underwent surgery at Passavant hospital recently.

Mrs. Judy Finch, wife of Francis Finch, of rural Jacksonville was transferred by ambulance from Passavant hospital to Memorial hospital in Springfield where she underwent major surgery Thursday.

Astronauts' Deaths
3rd Fatal Accident
For Cape KennedyBy WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.
Journal Courier Aerospace Writer

Besides being the first astronaut fatalities related directly to the space program, the deaths of astronauts Grissom, White, and Chaffee are only the third fatal accident at Cape Kennedy.

Still the men connected with the space program have always realized that sooner or later some astronauts would be killed in the line of duty. Had this happened during Project Mercury, or early in the Gemini program, it might have meant the end to manned space flights. Now, however, the space program has gone on too far for this to happen.

If we were to stop manned space flights now it would mean not only that the three astronauts had died in vain but that the knowledge gained in the previous 19 flights would be wasted.

There will, however, be a delay of several months while the cause of the accident is thoroughly investigated and steps taken to see that it can't happen again. Then the backup crew Astronauts Walter M. Shriver, Jr., Donn F. Eisel, and R. Walter Cunningham, will take the places of Grissom, White, and Chaffee.

The booster is not fueled on a simulated launch so the accident is probably not due to any trouble in the Upgraded Saturn I. However, the Apollo spacecraft must have fuel for its steering jets and fuel cells for the simulated launching to be complete. Both of these fuels which could have caused the flash fire.

The Apollo spacecraft is provided with an emergency escape rocket, similar to that used on the Mercury capsule only much larger, which is designed to pull the astronauts away in case of emergencies. Being solid fueled this rocket is always ready for use. The fact that it was not used seems to indicate that the fire was either in the Command Module, where the astronauts were located, or flared up so fast they had no time to fire the escape rocket.

In spite of the death of the first Apollo prime crew space flight still has the best safety record of any form of transportation. Out of twenty-four men who have become flight crews on manned space missions only three have been killed in the line of duty.

Fire Razes
Workshop
At New Berlin

NEW BERLIN — Fire, churned by Thursday's high winds, destroyed a workshop building belonging to the U. and L. Grain company of New Berlin. Alvin Lovekamp, co-owner of the grain firm, estimated the loss at between $3,000 and $4,000.

The building and its contents, including electric welding equipment, an air compressor and various tools, were termed a complete loss. The cause of the fire was not determined.

The blaze was discovered by a passerby at 9:30 p.m. and quickly flamed out of control. Dan Curtis, chief of the New Berlin-Island Grove volunteer fire department, said extreme weather conditions made the firefighters' task more difficult. Firemen remained at the scene until midnight.

The area in which the workshop was located had been without electric power for several hours when the fire was discovered. Authorities said, however, that there was plenty of water in the city tank and that the fire created no particular problems in regard to the water supply.

Electric service in the south and southwest sections of town was cut off from noon Thursday until 3 a.m. Friday and residents of the rural area were reportedly still without power late Friday.

Christine Rolf
Dies, Rites Set
At Mt. Sterling

MT. STERLING—Mrs. Christine Rolf, 69, of Mt. Sterling passed away at 8:10 p.m. Thursday at St. Mary's hospital in Quincy.

Born at Hersman Nov. 2, 1897, she was the daughter of William and Rose Wort Kassing. She was married Nov. 14, 1916 to John Rolf, who passed away Aug. 24, 1964.

Surviving is a son, Leonard of Mt. Sterling; two daughters, Mrs. Edward Veith and Mrs. Gerald Wagner, both of Mt. Sterling; four brothers, Frank, George and Cletus, all of Mt. Sterling; one sister, Mrs. Hobart Thomas of Camp Point and 13 grandchildren.

Mrs. Rolf was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church and the church's Altar and Rosary society.

Requiem mass will be offered at St. Joseph's church at 9 a.m. Monday, Reverend Leonard Rathgeb officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Sterling Catholic cemetery.

Friends may call Sunday at the Hutmager Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited at 8 p.m.

Conduct Inquest Into Death Of Accident Victim

PITTSFIELD — A coroner's jury ruled Friday that the death of Donald Jacobs of Lincolnwood, fatally injured when his car struck a truck near Barry Thursday, was caused by multiple injuries.

Jacobs, 22, was the driver of an eastbound car which skidded out of control on icy pavement three and a half miles east of Barry at 9:45 a.m. Thursday. Authorities said the Jacobs car slid into the path of an oncoming mail truck, driven by Charles T. England, 51, of Quincy.

The Lincolnwood man, his passenger, Miss Ruth E. Higgins, 22 of Streator and the truck driver were taken to Illinois hospital in Pittsfield where Jacobs was listed in critical condition until his death at 4:30 p.m. The others were admitted for treatment of injuries believed to be less serious.

Funeral services for Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Jacobs of Chicago, will be held in Chicago.

The body was taken to the Sutter Funeral Home in Pittsfield where Pike County Coroner Warren Lord conducted an inquest Friday.

Members of the jury were: Virgil Kriegerhauser, foreman; George Sherman, Elmer Ottwell, Lewis Brown, John Sutter and Max Jennings.

Harry Walter
Of New Berlin
Dies At Age 63

NEW BERLIN — Harry Frederick Emig Walter, 63, passed away at 9:05 a.m. Friday at Memorial hospital in Springfield where he had been a patient 14 days. He was employed by the Chapman Propane company and had made his home with the Carl Rieck family for 27 years.

He was born at Prentice Sept. 24, 1903; son of August and Sophia Lange Walter.

Surviving is a brother, Elmer Walter of Peoria; two sisters, Mrs. Carl Rieck of rural New Berlin and Mrs. Fred Rieck of Springfield and several nieces and nephews.

He was a member of Zion Lutheran church at Pleasant Plains where services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday. Reverend Royce Leckband, pastor of the church, will officiate with burial to be in Pleasant Plains cemetery.

Friends may call at the McCullough Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Sunday and until time of services Monday.
